THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

SEVERAL changes have occurred in the governing body of the School during the last few months. At the beginning of the year, Mr. Robert Vicars was compelled by ill-health to relinquish the position of Chairman, and later resigned as a Trustee. His colleagues directed that the following should be included in the minutes of their proceedings:

"Mr. Vicars left the School in 1885 and was appointed a Trustee on 25th July, 1922, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late W. T. MacPherson. At that time he had already won a prominent place in the commercial world and had given outstanding service to the Old Sydneians' Union, of which he was a Past-President.

On joining the Board, he threw himself in characteristic fashion into the new activity, and impressed those associated with him by the great interest he took in administration, not only as it affected the general welfare of the School, but also as it affected the welfare of the Staff. For the past two years he has been Chairman of the Board.

We record the great services, and the generosity of Mr. Robert Vicars, we thank him for them, and we wish him good health in the days to come."

Mr. Vicars is an Old Sydneian who, by his never-flagging interest, generous benefactions, and kindly guidance has far more than repaid his debt to the School. On behalf of the School and its Old Boys, the "Sydneian" thanks him for his invaluable service, and wishes him many years of happy retirement.

His place as Chairman of Trustees has been filled by the appointment of Dr. E. A. Brearley. "Ted" Brearley had a distinguished record at the School and the University of Sydney. He won the Wigram Allen prizes in 1899 and 1900 and the Senior Knox prize in 1900 and was awarded the Morehead Scholarship in 1901. At the University he graduated B.A. with first-class Honours, and M.B., Ch. M., with first-class Honours and the University Medal. He gained his Blue for Rowing and for the last three years of his medical course was Sub-Warden of St. Paul's College.

For more than thirty years he has been a leading Macquarie Street specialist. In the recent war, he served as Registrar of the 2/12 A.G.H. in 1941-43. He was Honorary Treasurer of the Old Sydneians' Union from 1916 to 1920, and President in 1923 and 1924, and to him, as much as anyone, the re-constitution of the Union in 1915, its growing strength and sound financial position are due. He was appointed a Trustee of the School in 1923, and was Vice-Chairman from 1923 to 1947. As Vice-Chairman he has taken a very close interest in the life of the School, has been, as it were, its general manager, and has given service the value of which it would be difficult to exaggerate. He is Mr. Vicars' natural successor and the School looks forward with satisfaction to the continuance for many years of his capable and vigorous direction.

The vacancy in the Board of Trustees created by Mr. Vicars' resignation has been filled by the appointment of Brigadier W. P. MacCallum, C.B.E., D.S.O., M.C. He is the second son of the late Sir Mungo MacCallum, a former Chairman of Trustees. He had a brilliant career at School. At the Senior Public Examination in 1913 he gained first-class Honours in English, Latin, Greek and French, and won the Greek Medal and the Cooper Scholarship for Classics. He was a member of the 1st XV and Captain of Boats, and, according to the present Headmaster, "the best Senior Prefect I have known." In the 1914-18 war he had a splendid record, first as a regimental officer, and later as a staff officer. As a Brigade Major, he was responsible for the detailed planning of some of the most brilliant operations of the A.I.F. in 1918, and was outstanding amongst the younger staff officers of the force. On his return to Australia he graduated in medicine, and is now a Macquarie Street Specialist. In the war of 1939-45 he had a distinguished record as an administrator and at its conclusion was Deputy Director General of Medical Services. Two of his sons have passed through the School, and the third, "Jock," is a prefect, rowed in the Eight and is a member of the 1st XV. The "Sydneian" congratulates Walter MacCallum on his appointment, and congratulates the School upon securing as one of its Trustees an Old Sydneian with such high qualities of mind and character.

At the end of 1947, Mr. F. F. Buchanan retired from the office of Secretary to the Trustees, in which he has given many years of keen and valuable service. His place has been filled by the appointment of Mr. R. E. Ludowici.

He, too, had a fine career at the School, and has served it devotedly since. He has the probably unique distinction of having gained his football colours for four successive years and his rowing colours for three successive years. He was captain of Football in 1920-21, Vice-Captain of Boats in the same years, and Senior Prefect for 1921. He has been a prominent member of the Old Sydneians' Union Committee since 1922, and was one of the Honorary Secretaries for some years, and has never ceased to show keen interest in the School and the Union. For the last two years he has actively assisted in the coaching of the 1st XV.

BACK-TO-GRAMMAR DAY

The Headmaster and Staff extend a very cordial invitation to all Old Boys to attend a Back-to-Grammar Day at the School on Monday, October 11th, from 4 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.

It is hoped that very many Old Boys will be present.

The Headmaster would like to know not later than Friday, October 8th, the approximate number likely to attend.

ANNUAL PRIZE-GIVING, 1947.

At the Annual Prize-Giving on Wednesday, December 11th, the Chairman of Trustees, Mr. Robert Vicars, extended a very cordial welcome to our Visitor, Sir Robert Garran, a distinguished Old Boy of the School.

After distributing the prizes Sir Robert recalled how he had come to the School as a "timid, small boy in 1877, and now," he added, "I stand before you as a timid old man." He went on to tell something of his experiences at the School as he knew it in those early days, and drew attention to the modern decline in the study of Classics. His remarks evoked a vigorous correspondence in one of the morning newspapers.

We regret that we are not able to print this address in full, but readers will be interested in an article by him printed in the Old Sydneian section of this issue.

At the conclusion of the proceedings the Women's Association served afternoon tea.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT, 1947.

HE would be a fortunate Headmaster who could begin his Annual Report with the easy confidence of a 3rd-Former recently. When asked to comment on the work of an Australian explorer, he began disarmingly "In my opinion, which is shared by a number of eminent historians." One somehow loses that "first fine careless rapture" of youth and learns a more modest approach to the problems one proposes to discuss. Of the emergence of problems there is no end—and by that I do not mean merely the boy in his numbers. For he is less a problem than a revelation of infinite possibilities. I mean the problems which are the evidences of an unhealthy tendency. For instance, here is a situation which has to be faced. In this school which was once noted for the quality of its classical scholarship there are in the Sixth Forms no boys taking Greek and only six taking Latin. One can understand the disappearance of Greek, for this age boasts itself as practical and scientific, and such an age has no regard for a language and a culture which belong to a distant and vanished past. It can contribute nothing, men say, to the wealth of the community and therefore is of no account. Yet it provides a wealth on which no Taxation Department can lay hands and resources which, unlike those of the practical man, multiply in a financial depression. It is the wealth which comes from intangible things, the broadening of the mind, the widening of the sympathies, and a fuller understanding of the meaning of life. As literature, Latin has less to offer than Greek. It had its value as a universal language for scientists; it was useful for the study of law when ancient documents and codes were written in Latin; and when the value of a gentleman's education was judged by his facility in introducing Latin quotations into his conversation or Parliamentary speeches. These standards no longer apply, but educationists tried to arrest the decline in its importance by insisting on its value in training the mind. They pointed to the number of eminent people, particularly in politics, who had been classical scholars, and deduced from that the principle that they owed their prominence to the mental training they received in the study of Latin and Greek. The evidence, however, is now regarded as pointing the other way. It is maintained that they succeeded in Latin only because they had the initial ability which enabled them to succeed in politics. The study of Latin itself, it is now affirmed, in no degree contributed to their later success.

But Latin, although it has not in literature the pre-eminence of Greek, has its own contribution to make. Milton and Tennyson owe much to Vergil and the oratory of Cicero has set a standard which the orators of 20 centuries have not been able to excel. With the decline of classical studies and the absorption in science and mathematics the mind has lost much of its power to soar, and sacrificed its breadth of vision for a narrow concentration on material things. In some more enlightened day, perhaps, when our boys are not limited to half a dozen subjects in the Leaving Certificate examination, we may be able to include once more the study of those ancient literatures which have meant so much for the progress of humanity.

And now I leave the wider theme of "the progress of humanity" to come back to one nearer home—the progress of the School. Numbers have been maintained at about 800 and enrolment for 1948 is complete. The School House, under the very capable management of Mr. and Mrs. Sams, is again full and there are no vacancies for 1948.

In the public examinations 86 boys passed the Leaving Certificate with 13 1st-Class, 17 2nd-Class Hons. in Maths, English, History, Science and German: 4 boys gained Exhibitions (rather fewer than usual). A record number of 120 passed the Intermediate; we are hopeful that the results of recent examinations will be up to standard.

I am very sorry to report the death of Mr. Barnes, who joined us after retiring from the Education Department and gave valuable service until his retirement last year. Mr. Golding, who has been a member of the staff for nearly forty years, has been on leave of absence for the last Term, owing to ill-health, but I am happy to say that he will be able to resume duties next Term. During the year Mr. Holloway resigned his position as Modern Language Master to accept a University appointment: needless to say we regard his departure as the loss of a fine scholar and a most popular personality. About the same time Mr. Dudley left to pursue his studies at London University. We have welcomed in their places Messrs. Carr and Maclay, and more recently Mr. Essex.

Once again I acknowledge gratefully the ever-ready support I have received on all sides, from the Trustees, from Mr. Ritchie, Master of the Lower School, where so many demands are made on one's tact, firmness and sympathetic understanding: from the members of the Staff; from Miss Dickin, the Headmaster's Secretary; from the School Sergeant, the Prefects and the boys themselves. I am strongly of the belief that the best discipline in a school is self-discipline and it is pleasing to see that if a master is delayed in coming to his room, the class does not as a rule abuse its opportunities, but keeps itself in order until his arrival.

The year has been a very interesting one in the variety of school activities. But I refer you for fuller details to the current issue of the "Sydneyan," where you will find that we congratulate Newington on winning the Head of the River, that we did quite well in Rifle Shooting, that we came second in football and we were undefeated in tennis. The results of the cricket competition are not to be found there. We had hoped to come first, but could not do better than a second to St. Joseph's, whose fine sporting attitude in a difficult game, affected by weather, I am very happy to mention here with keen appreciation. I would quote at this stage the comment of the 1st XI coach on his team, "They won well and they lost better."

The orchestra is playing good music and its popularity in diffusing culture is somewhat enhanced, perhaps, by various invitations it has received to give performances at girls' schools. We have had the pleasure of hearing it in conjunction with the Dramatic Society and also in a much appreciated performance at the School last week. As an evidence of their appreciation of the valuable work the orchestra is doing, the Trustees have provided a Music Scholarship, which has been awarded to a very suitable candidate.

The choir has done particularly well: it gave a broadcast in April; later it combined with the North Sydney Choral Society in a performance at the School in aid of the School War Memorial, and it has at various times given items at Assembly. I should like to mention specially the very important contribution it has made to the music of the special religious Assemblies held at the beginning and end of each Term.

The Debating Society, after being for three years in the Finals, was this year successful in winning the competition.

The Dramatic Society produced a number of plays with great credit, though we cannot claim to have been as ambitious as in the days of Sir Robert Garran. "Sydneyan" records show that in one year he took a prominent part in a Greek play. I note, too, that in those days Latin verse figured regularly in the original contributions to the "Sydneyan."

A grant from the Trustees has enabled us to engage well-known Sydney musicians to visit the School for lunch-time concerts. Once, and once only, a Term the "modernists" have their day and quite recently I received a request to allow the performance of the works of a composer of whom I had to admit I had not previously heard. The subsequent notice on the School boards announced quite truly that the Spike Jones Club was presenting Studies in the Depreciation of Music. The attendance was phenomenal.

The Trustees, we are glad to say, have taken initial steps in the establishment of an adequate Library. Space at present is limited, but books and equipment now being provided will be incorporated in the Library which is to be the central feature of the War Memorial Building.

In the Science Laboratory by the Stanley Street entrance you will see a most interesting exhibition of manual hobbies. The two winning exhibits in Senior and Junior divisions are particularly worthy of inspection.

The Cadet Corps has flourished. The decline in numbers at the beginning of the year has been made up and we expect it to be at full strength next year. Its work at the Cadet Camp was highly commended by the G.O.C. and we had a further evidence of its quality at a Ceremonial Parade on the School Ground when the President of the Women's Association handed a mace to the keeping of the Drum Major of the very efficient Cadet Band.

The activities of the Women's Association command our constant gratitude and admiration. In addition to maintaining two Women's Association Scholarships, they not only respond to any call for assistance, but anticipate our needs. For next year, we understand, they have planned a Fete in aid of the War Memorial Fund.

The Old Sydneians' Scholarship is an annual award and the Union has given substantial sums to assist the sporting activities of the School. I draw attention particularly to a very keen interest it is taking in improving conditions at the Rowing Shed.

During this last week, on behalf of the boys, I have paid over to the Memorial Fund sums bringing their total contributions to 1000 guineas. This includes donations of £100 each from the Dramatic Society and the Sydneian Committee, and there are still in hand other amounts which will considerably increase the total.

Thus far I have put before you some of the more obvious evidence of School activities. Something has to remain unsaid because often its presence may not be detected, or its value assessed.

My attention was drawn again to this aspect of school life by a remark made to me by a senior officer in the Public Service. "Private schools," he said, "are at a disadvantage in comparison with the High Schools, which don't accept boys with an I.Q. of less than 120." I don't know whether that statement is correct. I'm inclined to think that it may be an overstatement. But in either case its viewpoint seems to me fundamentally wrong—to infer that the I.Q. (Intelligence Quotient) is the main determining factor in the education of a boy or the success of a school. The real test is not the I.Q. of a boy when he comes to the school, but his C.Q. (his Character Quotient) when he leaves. Some of you may remember that Mr. Weigall was of that opinion and may have heard him make one of his favourite remarks—"I don't care what a boy is like when he comes to the School, but I care very much what he's like when he leaves it." A basic truth, stripped of modern jargon, and expressed in twenty-six words, only one of which contains more than one syllable. His direct utterance was typical of his direct insight into the essentials of education.

and true living. Society does not lack clever men, but it does lack good men, who will use their ability not merely for self-advancement, but also for the good of the community. The vitality and permanence of life in family, school and nation can draw from no other source than character. That is the real philosopher's stone which transmutes the baser elements of human nature into the fine gold of man's better self. It brings a transmutation; it brings also a transformation. It is to this end that all school activities are directed—a completeness in which body, mind and spirit find adequate expression.

SCHOOL NOTES

THIS year we welcome to the staff three new masters, Messrs. Trimble, Everingham and Knight. Mr. Trimble and Mr. Everingham are both returned servicemen, Mr. Trimble also being an Old Sydneian. Also we have recently lost the services of Mr. Clark from the teaching staff.

Six of last year's Prefects have returned, Don Gordon, Ron Wells, Ron Thomas, Murray Lloyd, John Barratt and Ron Estella, Barratt being made Senior for the year. New Prefects are, B. Bell, J. Engel, G. Fookes, J. Hart, K. Murphie, J. MacCallum, J. McLeod, K. Pogson and R. Scrivener.

The Old Sydneians' Union Scholarship was this year awarded to J. McLeod.

This year at the conclusion of the first Term we lost the very valuable services of Miss Miller from the Tuckshop and Dining Room. After 58 years of excellent service to the School Miss Miller found that she could no longer carry on and has handed over her duties to Mr. and Mrs. Swan.

The Cadet Corps has a role of 186; there are a few vacancies for recruits.

A representative from U.N.E.S.C.O. came to School during first Term and gave a very interesting lecture to the Sixth Form.

This year's Rowing Camp under the charge of Mr. Dent was reported to be very successful, and the Eight under Capt. J. Hart, and V/Capt. R. Scrivener was placed 5th in the Regatta.

The Rowing Scholarship was this year awarded to J. R. Coy. Congratulations.

The Women's Association gave us another excellent Regatta Dance. Our warmest thanks to them.

The Crusader Union has had a number of visiting speakers this term and the Meetings have been well attended.

A very successful Fete was held on May 1st by the Women's Association and although the weather was extremely bad, the takings were in the vicinity of £960, a very good effort.

On the night of the Fete the Choir and Orchestra made a most welcome appearance at a Concert in Big School.

The Chess Club is now holding its annual tournament.

The Tennis team was successful this year in coming 2nd in the Competition, giving way to Scots. During the May vacation the team went to Queensland where they defeated Ipswich and drew with Brisbane Grammar.

The Open Singles tournament was won by R. A. Wells from C. Callaway. The Open Doubles is now in progress.

The Swimming Carnival which in previous years has been held at the Manly Baths was this year, for the first time, held at the Olympic Pool. The Carnival was a great success, mainly due to splendid organisation.

Last year's Cricket Competition ended with St. Joseph's in the lead and ourselves runners-up. We congratulate St. Joseph's on their excellent performance.

In early December the 1st XI in charge of Mr. Abbott made its annual visit to Melbourne where it defeated the Melbourne team by 319 to 142. The tour was a great success.

This year's 1st XI under Capt. R. Wells and V. Capt. J. Barratt did well in the first round of the competition by winning 3 of 4 matches outright.

We were very sorry to lose Arthur Fagan, one of our younger members of the 1st XI, better known as "Lou," who created a G.P.S. record in bowling, by taking 32 wickets in the first round of the Competition. Congratulations, Arthur, we wish you the best of luck in the future.

The Melbourne Grammar XI paid us a visit at Easter time when they played the annual match against the XI. Our team was successful in defeating Melbourne outright.

Last year's G.P.S. representatives in the XI were, B. J. Ritchie (Capt.), R. A. Wells, J. W. Burke.

This year's Debating Team is D. Golding, D. Phippard, A. Robb. The Competition is due to start shortly. (Stop Press—won the first debate—against Shore.)

Finally, you will be glad to hear that "Percy" although not on Active Service at Grammar, still quite often attends matches and practices at Weigall. Good for you, "Percy."

HOUSE NOTES

WE welcome the new boys who have joined us this year: Aldis, Attwood, Barbour, Button, Chapman, D., Chapman, P., Henry, G., Henry, H., Hodgson, R., Johnson, Lamont, Lin, Little, Rossell, Scotton, Willis and Young.

We now have 63 boys, one more than the number at the end of last year.

As usual, the House has been well represented in School sport. Hunter and Carney have played in the Second Eleven, Hall i in Upper School A, while many promising juniors have played in lower teams. However, we were not good enough to defeat the School Third Eleven.

Flanagan was stroke of the Eight, Hodgson i rowed in the First Four, Coy in the Third Four, and Attwood in the Junior Eight. Coy was awarded the Rowing Scholarship.

At the Swimming Carnival Temperley won the Senior House Race and Tankard the Junior.

Hunter and Lin represented us in G.P.S. Tennis.

Flanagan and Voelcker play in the School Chess Team.

We are also well represented in the Choir and the Orchestra.

In the Cadets Attwood holds the rank of Cadet-Lieutenant, and Chapman i that of Sergeant.

Three House Prefects returned this year. The three new appointments that were Hall i, Jefferson and Temperley.

The awards made at the end of last year were: House Captain, P. W. Johnson; House Cup, P. S. Steel; Solling Cup, J. I. Street.

Both the Dancing Class, under Miss Cay, and the Tennis Class, under Mr. Copp, are in full swing.

Three hobbies rooms are now in use, and the mass production of aeroplanes and wirelasses threatens to upset the national economy.

We acknowledge with thanks the gift of a cricket net from Mr. Marshall, of the School House Board.

We have had three interesting outings lately: a bus trip to the G.P.S. Regatta, a visit to Wirth's Circus, and an afternoon at the School Fete.

We congratulate both Mr. MacNaughton and Mr. Lucas, our Assistant House Masters, on gaining appointments as Teaching Fellows at the University. We also congratulate Mr. MacNaughton on winning the University Medal for Modern History. We have welcomed several Old Boys this term, including Fred Atkins, Alan Cowan, John Castrisos, Chas Goldie, Peter Johnson, Dick Scotton and Bill Wignall. Ralph Gard has come back to live across the street—just to keep an eye on us.

Both John Holcombe and Robert Holcombe were down for the Regatta.

THE FETE

SYDNEY Grammar School Women's Association (by the courtesy of the Trustees) held a Fete at the School on Saturday, 1st May.

It was officially opened by The Rt. Hon. Sir George Rich, P.C., K.C.M.G., a former pupil of the School, and for his kindness in so honouring us the Association is deeply grateful.

Throughout the preparation and on Fete Day the Association received the utmost help from the masters, the present and past boys and from parents.

All past presidents of the Association who are still living were present and some of the foundation members were able to accept special invitations.

To begin the day the stalls, ten in number, presented a wonderful display of goods. Pride of place for returns went to the "All and Sundry" stall under the guidance of Mrs. F. G. Phillips and the wives of masters. The masters had their usual book stall, while stalls for Cakes, Jams, Flowers, Fancy Goods, Sweets, Produce, Opportunity and Refreshments all contributed to the success of the day.

The Fete concluded with a concert and for substantial assistance with this we thank the Orchestra with its Conductor, Mr. F. C. Hancock, who also sang during the evening; Mr. A. R. Bellhouse and the Choir, Mr. A. T. Keeble and Mr. R. Maclay. A. T. Keeble, and Mr. Maclay, contributed to the programme. While we sincerely thank all those who took part it was specially pleasing to note the boys' appreciation of items rendered by masters and fellow pupils.

The day proved a record for high rainfall, but notwithstanding this a net return of £855 is to hand.

The Association has sent a cheque for £500 to the School War Memorial Fund as an initial donation. This will not alter our first intention to provide furnishing for certain rooms when the new building is erected.

The remainder is being used to re-imburse our Scholarship Fund (which provides fees to the amount of £82 per annum) and to meet any near-future requirements.

It is again desired by the Association to extend a cordial invitation to all mothers of Grammar School boys, past and present, to join the Association. The annual subscription is 5/- and full particulars are available from the Secretary, Mrs. M. I. Ormsby.

THE SCHOOL LIBRARY

THE Trustees last year laid aside a considerable sum of money for the setting up of a School Library on modern lines. The collections which were previously known as the English Library, the History Library, VIA Library, and the Cureton Library (the Upper School Library), have been assimilated for the most part and are being catalogued according to Dewey. Some useful additions have already been made and a stream of new books will flow in during the year as rapidly as they can be handled. As the Library is still housed in the Cureton Room, it must for the present remain a lending rather than a reference library, but reading room facilities will shortly be provided for some time during the day, especially for magazines.

When the new building is ready it is intended that the Library shall serve the whole school and that all library and reference facilities shall be centred in it. The present collection should then be worthy of its new housing. The staff committee (of boys of 4ths, 5ths, and 6ths) has displayed much interest and industry, and progress, though necessarily slow, has been satisfactory. The assistance of Messrs. Knight and Greenwood has been most appreciated.

—G.F.R.C.

MIDDLE AND LOWER SCHOOL LIBRARY.

WE very much appreciate the great interest taken in the library by Mrs. C. Chase, and particularly do we thank her for the generous donation of books and a card index system. Mrs. Chase is the daughter of the late Mr. A. B. Weigall, and so she is indeed closely associated with "Grammar."

We thank Mr. R. G. Donald for his very kind donation of a year's subscription to "The National Geographic Magazine." This publication is very popular among our members.

—R.J.S.

"MISS MILLER"

SOME fifty-eight years ago a small girl assisted her parents who were in charge of the School Dining Room and Tuck-shop. She was then known as "Em." Later generations called her Miss Miller even after she had become Mrs. Sharpe. In the last few years, however, she has felt the strain of management under extremely difficult conditions, but has courageously carried on. For the School was a large part of her life just as she was an integral part of the School life.

But, at length, she felt that the time had come to retire and at the end of the First Term she handed to the Trustees her resignation which was received with great regret.

Generation after generation of boys will think of her with gratitude and warm appreciation. As one boy wrote in the last Sydneian, but for her liberal interpretation of the elasticity of "tuck" he would have gone hungry many a time. It worried her that in the days of rationing she could not provide the wide range of fare that she wished in the dining room and tuck-shop. That spiced apple tart, for instance, that gladdened the hearts and other regions of diners. With skilful touch she prepared the meals that were a pleasant anticipation and a satisfying memory. The School will miss her greatly, and also her sister, Mrs. Flegg, who helped her so capably and seemed like her other self.

They have done fine service for the School and we wish them happy years of retirement which will be gladdened by the memories of so many years of most pleasant associations.

SENIOR CADETS.

Courses for Potential Officers and N.C.O.s.

THESE were held at Ingleburn Camp during midsummer holidays in January. We sent along twenty-one candidates and the results obtained were very good indeed. All our people passed well. Sgt. J. G. McLeod 85 per cent. was second in N.S.W. in the Officers' Course, L/cpl. J. C. Gostelow 95 per cent. second in the N.C.O.'s course and Cpl. E. S. Graham 92.2 per cent second in the Signals Course These obtained "Distinguished" passes together with Cpl. J. G. Engel 93 per cent., Cpl. B. Trumper 93.5 per cent., and Cpl. A. K. Hislop 88.6 per cent (Signals).

Those who qualified for rank of Cadet-Lieutenant were J. G. McLeod, J. MacCallum, A. N. Hazard, P. W. Harvey, G. I. Little and C. Attwood, and for N.C.O.s J. C. Gostelow, B. Trumper, J. G. Engel, R. G. Blumer, B. O. Bell, V. Dobbins, K. D. Murphie, S. R. Edwards, T. E. Hanlon, J. Fisher, P. J. Wakefield, W. G. Clarke, R. G. Chegwyn, D. S. Sams. In the Signals Course E. S. Graham and A. K. Hislop were the successful candidates.

We welcome Mr. H. Girvan to the unit. He has recently been appointed an Officer of Cadets and 2I/C unit. He is a valuable acquisition. Recruiting was fairly brisk during first term and our present strength is approaching 200 divided into two companies.

Promotions and appointments have been made as follows:—

"A" Coy. Comd. Cadet Lt. G. O. Fookes. "B" Coy. Cadet Lt. A. M. Lloyd. Platoon Cmds. Cadet Lts. J. G. McLeod, P. W. Harvey, J. MacCallum, A. N. Hazard, G. I. Little, C. Attwood. Our C.S.M. is G. K. Graham, C.Q.M.S. K. G. Pogson and Sergeants J. G. Engel, E. S. Graham, J. C. Gostelow, B. A. Bell, K. D. Murphie, B. Trumper, R. G. Blumer. Corporals include V. Dobbins, S. R. Edwards, T. E. Hanlon, J. Fisher, P. J. Wakefield, W. G. Clarke, R. G. Chegwyn, D. S. Sams, A. K. Hislop, J. C. Spencer, A. T. Hall, R. F. Macdermid, A. M. Edwards, R. H. Rogan, W. Merriman, I. G. Hunter, G. Ireland, B. Jenkin.

The usual weekly parades are well attended, and the cadets are maintaining their reputation as a smart efficient body of young soldiers. The Band under Drum Major J. A. Barnett is a good one, and this year did duty on Anzac Day in the march of the returned service men. The result of the "Bulletin" Trophy (based on Annual Musketry Course of all Cadet Units in N.S.W.) was published recently. Of the fifty-one competing schools Grammar was placed third. A good effort.

Several years ago the late E. M. Mitchell, Esq., O.S. presented a trophy for annual competition in Light Automatic Weapons. During the war competition was suspended, but it is intended to award the trophy this year to the Section showing best results in tactical handling and firing of the Bren Gun. Annual Camp will be held at Ingleburn from 18-25 August, both dates inclusive.

—C.D.T.

THE ORCHESTRA

SINCE our last report in November, we have to record a very successful concert at Kambala, which was apparently enjoyed as much by the very attentive audience as it was by us. We are also very grateful for an "honourable mention" at the Kambala Prize-giving in December. We did not realise how good we were!

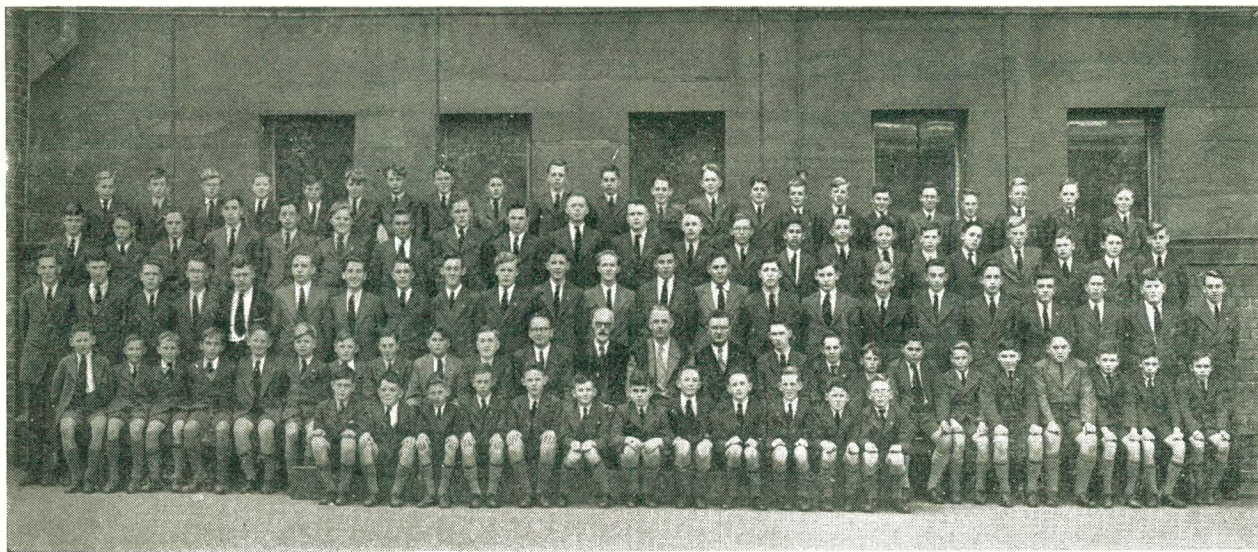

We were very unlucky to lose Leslie Rogers, who was awarded the first Orchestral Scholarship for 1948, as he was unable to come to Grammar after all, owing to his family's removal to the country. The scholarship has so far not been awarded, as no suitable applicant has been forthcoming.

A number of new members have joined the orchestra, and our strength is now 27. We welcome gladly the following new players—Simos, Lamont and Trinnick (violins), Morgan (clarinet), Walker (flute), Hain (trumpet), Jefferson and Francis (percussion), Mayblom and Clarke (managers).

On May 1st we played four items at the concert organised by the Women's Association in connection with the School Fete. Mr. Hancock has received a delightful letter from the secretary, Mrs. Ormsby, expressing great appreciation of our efforts on that occasion. We played better than we thought we should, so early in the year.

Practices are held every Thursday in the Masonic Hall, and if there are still any boys in the School who could join the orchestra and have not come forward, we appeal to them to come over to one of the practices and see for themselves how pleasant it really is.

THE SPORTSMASTER'S NOTES

ALL sporting bodies at Grammar will heartily congratulate our most enthusiastic supporter and efficient time-taker, Old Sydneian, A. S. Lloyd, on his appointment as a Judge of the District Court.

Referees for Saturday morning games at Weigall are urgently needed. The afternoons are well supplied by the services of D. J. Irvine, David Lloyd and M. Westmore (probably wrong initial: it does not stand for "Mae").

For the mornings we have to date received promises from Graham Scharkie, Mick Todman, G. R. ("Fairy") Wray (whose name takes us back to the earliest days of O.S. referees), M. Bain, present boys Don Gordon, John Engel (when he learns the rules) and R. Stewart.

As usual, a large number of senior boys are rushing to assist the Masters with the coaching of the Middle and Junior teams. We welcome them.

Our good friend, Mrs. Smedley, has retired, according to custom, from the position of President of the Grammar Women's Association. That does not, however, mean that her energy and enthusiasm will be lost to us at Weigall. We sincerely thank her for all that she has done for us in her term of office, and welcome in her place Mrs. Lloyd, whose organising ability and never-flagging interest have already been well in evidence.

We sincerely thank the Association for the excellent care executive members took of both teams on the occasion of the Melbourne match—a function of which you may read elsewhere in this number.

The XI and the coach, Mr. H. A. Abbott, deserve our congratulations. (And this is a good place for us to congratulate "H.A.A." on his election as Captain of the 'Varsity XI.)

The Head of the River passed off with its usual elan and the Eight owes much to the great assistance given by our old friend "Joe" Gould. Joe knows "more than somewhat" about rowing, and we hope to see very much more of him this coming season.

To the Board of Trustees and the Rowing Sub-Committee our thanks are due for much-needed improvements at the Shed. We noted, among other things, upon our last visit two fine new stoves

At Weigall new work is impending after long delay, and the Sports Fund Committee proposes to purchase at once a horse-mower of suitable type.

The Ground has experienced weed, grass, mower, and groundsman troubles almost simultaneously. The heavy and unseasonable rains in January caused an abnormal growth of grass and weeds with which the men were unable to cope owing to the difficulty and delay in spreading the usual top-dressing. To make matters worse, both mowers, motor and horse, broke down, and confusion was worse confounded.

Through the good offices of our Headmaster and the City Engineer, who happens to be an Old Boy, the City Council sent down their engines of war against weeds, and all is now well.

We have had experience of groundsmen varied and of wondrous type. As the Air Force used to say: We have "had" them! Three of 'em!

Football prospects are reasonably bright at time of writing, though no stars are at the moment evident. Perhaps that is not a bad thing.

An attractive feature of the last two Swimming Carnivals has been the display put on by our own S.G.S. Diving Troupe under Ross Davis.

Great praise is due to the Swimming Committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Clark, to whom we regretfully say farewell (he leaves us to enter business), and the spur (most suitable word) of our untiring secretary, Murray Lloyd.

Members of the Committee were Terry Johnson, N. N. Alexander, L. S. Paton, P. Wakefield, I. Rolle, Ross Davis, P. Utting and the secretary, M. Lloyd.

Our popular and skilful Instructor of Boxing, Mr. Tommy Hanley, has, with his customary generosity, established the "Hanley Cup" for the best boxer each year as produced in our tournament. It will take the form of a permanent trophy to be engraved with the name of the winner. The winner will also receive a miniature suitably inscribed "for his very own." Thank you, Tommy.

Speaking of trophies, and we have spoken of them before, there are still some permanent trophies which carry no provision for a personal miniature to become the winner's property.

Further: we should be delighted to hear of Old Sydneians, parents or friends, who would like to establish permanent trophies, provided that a small cup for personal presentation is also donated each year.

Some famous trophies already in existence are the Women's Association Savigny Memorial Cups, "The Russell French," "The Basser Cup," The K. S. Williams Savigny Memorial Cups, the Robert Bullock Memorial Trophy (established by J. Crawford Esq., O.S.), The Hyam Marks Trophy (by D. Adamson Esq., father of an O.S.), the James McKillop Memorial Cup, the Younger Cup and possibly some that we have forgotten for the moment. All these are for Athletics and all carry individual miniatures (for want of a better word).

Other well-known awards are the Ralston Cups for Shoooting and Tennis; the Hazell Shield and Ian Clarke Anderson Memorial for Football; the Blashki Memorial Gold Medal for Swimming; the Gunning Shield for Cricket, and many others, some very handsome and valuable, which, rightly or wrongly, are no longer awarded.

Our new captain of Shooting, J. McLeod, is a most enthusiastic fellow with an enquiring mind. Among other things he has dug out the Marks Shield and the Chisholm Cup. These were evidently of great consequence in years gone by, for they bear the names of many whom the writer remembers as excellent shots "when shootin' was shootin'." (It still is, of course: no offence.)

We should be glad if some old-time and, doubtless, "big" shots would advise us.

The Cricket Cap, for the XI only, has been revived and will be presented (subject to the Headmaster's approval) at the first assembly in Term III. It is a dignified, restrained affair, very much the same, we believe, as that which was allowed to disappear some ten years ago. Why, one knoweth not.

"Presentation of the Caps" will give cricket its rightful place among the major sports with an assembly of its own as have Rowing, Athletics, and of late years, Football, when Mrs. Dovey presents the badges made with her own hands.

Shooting (a major sport), Tennis and Swimming have as yet no functions of their own, but their adepts have their moments when colours are presented.

We congratulate the Tennis Team and their Coach, Mr. Bellhouse, on their showing in the "G.P.S." games. We cannot always win. On now to the "Fairwater!"

We have not heard anything from the shooting fraternity as yet, but no doubt they will be making a big noise in the world of "bulls" and "maggies" 'ere long. Good luck to them; may the "N.R.A.," the Rawson Cup and the "Buchanan" return to those shelves which they have so often graced!

A very big "thank you" to Mr. Alan Stewart for the gift of a new tennis net. We believe he, with other Old Boys, gave the Rowers a most enjoyable dinner. Further, we hear rumours of his desire to give the Ground a much needed scrumming machine. (Incidentally, Alan does not like publicity, and we shall probably "catch it" at our next meeting, but we refuse to let him blush unseen.)

Congratulations to Major C. D. Taylor, Regatta Secretary, on the "Nepean Affair" — a major success; and on his election as Deputy-Chairman of the Games Committee.

Congratulations to R. Wells, Captain of the XI, on his award of an A.A.G.P.S. Cricket Badge.

Royal Life Saving Certificates and awards of Bronze Medallions and higher are coming in with a slowness that would have tried the patience of Job.

To hand, and presented, have come Elementary Resuscitation and Intermediate Certificates. In the Sports Office are Instructors' Certificates. Still to come are fifty-odd Bronze Medallions, some with bars, Bronze Crosses and Awards of Merit (Silver Medallions).

Actually, the 1947 class did splendidly and should go close to the Championship Pennant for the State.

We came third last year without knowing that we were in the competition, or even that there was such a thing.

Nevertheless, no more classes until these arrears of awards are wiped off. We have spoken.

Our thanks to Mr. Hancock (and Mrs. Hancock) for taking charge of the second School bus to the Nepean. Mr. Hancock will succeed Mr. Clark as Master of Swimming. (A man who can control a school bus to the Regatta can control anything.)

What thought ye of the roar of our starting cannon at the Carnival? Our hardy starter did not bat an eye-lash. (That should settle a tale or two.)

Mr. Ken Austin, well known as a keen and successful athlete at Grammar, has presented us with an individual cup to be awarded each year to the winner of the 220 yards championship at the Junior Sports.

Our best thanks to you, Ken.

The Games Committee this year consists of the Sportsmaster, Mr. W. E. Crocker (Chairman), and Messrs. Dent (Rowing and Athletics), Abbott (Cricket and Boxing), Edwards (Football), Taylor (Deputy Chairman and Shooting), Bellhouse (Tennis), Hancock (Swimming) and Everingham (Hon. Secretary to the Sports Fund Committee).

School representatives are the Senior Prefect, J. Barratt (Hon. Secretary and Football), R. Wells (Cricket), R. Estella (Athletics), D. Gordon (Tennis), M. Lloyd (Swimming), J. G. McLeod (Shooting), J. V. Hart (Boats).

As the Press remarked the other night, interstate G.P.S. sport has been extended to Tennis. Our team, with Mr. Alan Bellhouse as mentor, played Brisbane and Ipswich Grammar Schools in Queensland during the May vacation. The lucky lads are C. R. Callaway, D. Storey, D. Sams, D. Gordon, I. R. Campbell.

The move is a tribute to the initiative and organisation of Mr. Bellhouse.

We must not forget Mr. Cowdery, who emerges from the depths of Library on occasions to supervise Rowers' Prep at the Shed and to help Major Taylor with the Shooting Camp.

FIRST ELEVEN—THIRD TERM, 1947

In preparation for the term's cricket, two practice games were played against University XI's, with successful results for the School. This promised well for the games to follow.

Three competition games were played during the term, all of them away from our home ground. One of them was won on the first innings whilst the remaining two were lost on the first innings.

St. Josephs by defeating us on the first innings in the final game won the Premiership. Our congratulations to them on their win.

Bruce Ritchie again captained the team, and his ability and leadership were at all times an inspiration to his eleven.

The outstanding player during the season was Jim Burke who headed both the batting and bowling averages as well as scoring the only century recorded, 109 N.O. against Shore.

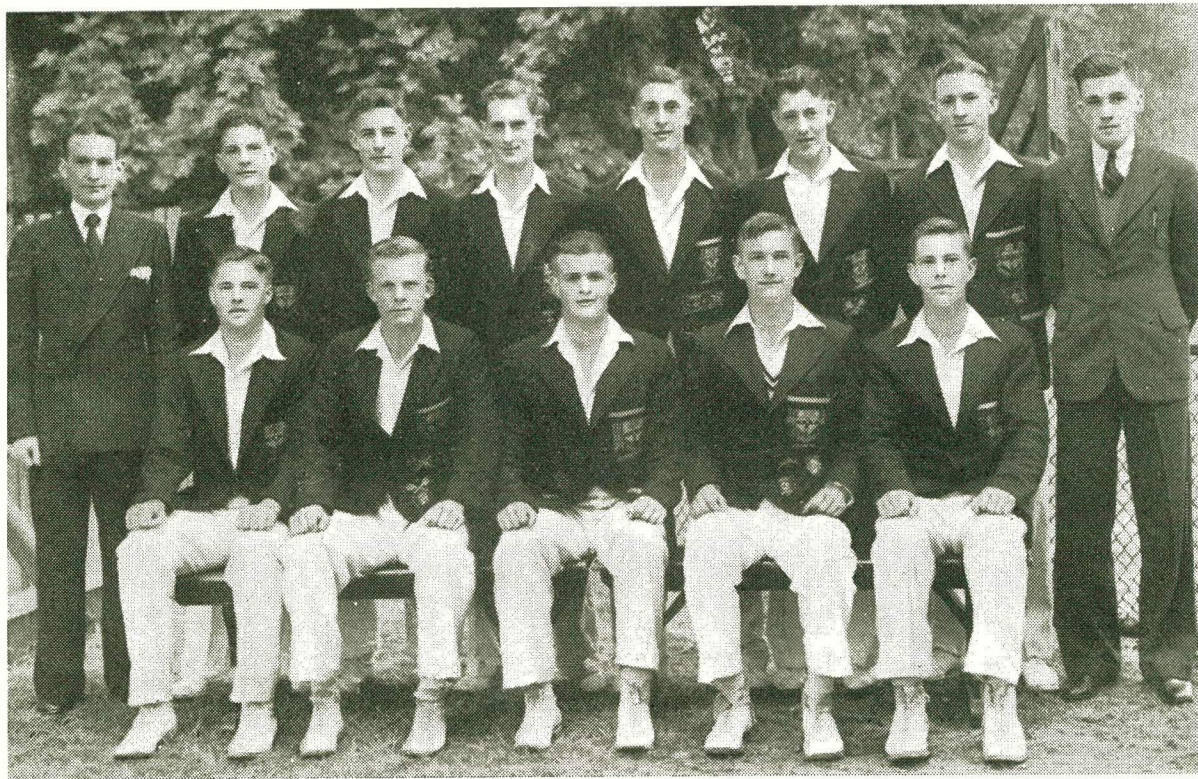

The wicket-keeping of J. Barratt was again of a very high standard and with more experience he should go a long way in the game.

Both Wells and Latimer batted consistently throughout the term and on several occasions were the sheet-anchors on which the side had to rely for a respectable score.

Young Arthur Fagan, who is playing his first season with the School eleven, fulfilled the promise he showed in the lower teams. His hat-trick (all clean bowled) against St. Josephs at a crucial stage of the game, was one of the most meritorious bowling efforts of the season.

The team as a whole functioned smoothly, and the good fellowship which had developed among the players was most apparent when the going was tough. The weakness of the team was in the fielding. Far too many runs were allowed to be scored both through lack of anticipation and slowness in moving for the ball.

Our congratulations to Ritchie, Burke and Wells on their selection to represent the Combined Schools XI, also to Ritchie and Burke on their inclusion in the N.S.W. Colts to play at Juneec.

Finally, we should like to thank our Headmaster and Mrs. Phillips for the interest and enthusiasm they displayed in the progress of the team throughout the season.

In conclusion I would say the standard of cricket played by the team was very high. They won their matches well, and in adverse circumstances, lost better.

CRICKET CHARACTERS—1947

R. J. RITCHIE (Captain): Batsman with sound defence and powerful scoring strokes all round the wicket; medium pace bowler; sound fieldsman. Has captained his team capably.

R. A. Wells (Vice-Captain): Opening batsman with good defence and graceful strokes all round the wicket; excellent fieldsman.

J. W. Burke: Sound defensive batsman with a good temperament; off spin bowler with excellent length control; good fieldsman.

W. J. Latimer: Powerful, fast-scoring batsman, particularly strong on the on side. Slow in the field; needs to improve his throw.

I. R. Campbell: Slow bowler with a good "wrong-un;" good defensive batsman; slip field.

F. C. Millner: Medium pace bowler with good length control; fair bat, but out of form this term.

J. A. Russell-Jones: Batsman with strokes all round the wicket. Fair fieldsman.

K. F. Astridge: Fast bowler; batsman capable of punishing loose bowlers; fair fieldsman.

J. G. Barratt: Wicket-keeper. Moves to the ball well and has good anticipation.

A. V. Treloar: Slow bowler, spins the ball well and an excellent "googly."

A. L. Fagan: All-rounder. Opening batsman and opening bowler; good, safe fieldsman. Should go a long way in the game.

CRICKET TRIP TO MELBOURNE—DEC., 1947

On the 11th December, the first XI of 1947, with Thomas, Chegwyn and Walter as the additional members, and Mr. Abbott as coach, left for Melbourne. The team was farewelled by the Headmaster, Mr. Phillips, Old Boys, parents and many friends of the fairer sex.

After a most enjoyable trip we arrived at Melbourne at 11.30 a.m. the next morning, Friday, and we were met by members of the Melbourne team, together with their parents, and taken to the Public Schools' Club for an Official Welcoming Luncheon.

The Melbourne Grammar School authorities kindly placed their practice wickets and nets at our disposal, so, for the rest of the afternoon we were able to get some valuable practice on the different type of Melbourne wicket.

Saturday was a free day for the team and the lads certainly took advantage of it to see the sights of the Southern Metropolis. In the evening we were the guests of the Melbourne Grammar Team at the "Comedy" Theatre. It was a most enjoyable show.

On Sunday we were taken for a car picnic into the country by the parents. But first we stopped at the Flinders Naval Base for a tour of inspection, then on to our destination, where we were able to sample some of the Victorian surf. Mr. Thomas Luxton, an old Melburnian, invited the party to his magnificent beach house for afternoon tea. Our sincere thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Luxton for their kindness as well as to Jimmie Burke who provided us with music.

Monday was our "black day." It was the commencement of our first match of the tour and our opponents were Scotch College. Bruce Ritchie, running true to form lost the toss and we were sent in to bat on a nasty "sticky." With the exception of Campbell, Fagan and Walter, the team offered little resistance, being dismissed for 64.

Scotch batted after lunch on a drying wicket and scored 104. The outstanding bowlers for Sydney were Fagan, Burke, Treloar and Chegwyn. Grammar second innings began well with Fagan, Burke, Wells, Ritchie and Campbell all scoring freely and at stumps we had lost only 5 wickets for 143. Our thanks to Scotch for an enjoyable game and "congrats" to them on winning.

Tuesday again gave the boys a chance to become acquainted with the sights of Melbourne and in the evening we were entertained by Mr. McKnight, the former coach of the 1st XI, and his wife, at their home in Balwyn. It was a very pleasant evening and we should like to thank Mr. and Mrs. McKnight for their wonderful hospitality.

On Wednesday, we commenced our game against the Melbourne Grammar School. Ritchie, for once off form, won the toss and decided to bat on a perfect wicket. We started disastrously by losing one wicket in the first over for 0. Burke, together with Wells, was bringing the score along nicely when he lost his wicket in attempting to make a big hit. Ritchie, next to the wickets, opened confidently with a beautiful off drive. He then went on to compile an enterprising 156 in almost even time. This was a happy and memorable day for Bruce Ritchie, as it was his last game with the School team; congratulations, Bruce, from all your team.

Campbell, also, is to be commended for the manner in which he scored a brilliant 67. Other members to show outstanding form were Wells with a delighttfully compiled 50, Bell, Millner and Astridge.

About 30 minutes before stumps we lost our last wicket with the score at 319. Melbourne went into bat, but did not lose any wickets at that stage.

Despite a slight shower on Wednesday evening, Thursday was a perfect day. The wicket played slow and easy and the Melbourne openers looked set for a big score until Burke broke the partnership. Jimmie then gave an exhibition of accurate, intelligent, off spin bowling to finish with the excellent figures of 8 wickets for 56. Melbourne were dismissed for 147. Fagan must also be commended for the manner in which he supported Burke by good length swing bowling.

Barratt's wicket-keeping was of a very high standard, he took two very nice catches and stumped another victim.

Sydney won on the first innings by 172 runs. At afternoon tea Mr. Davie congratulated the team on its win and presented both Ritchie and Burke with a ball each to commemorate their performances.

At 4.15 p.m. we caught the train for home, the team being farewelled by members of the Melbourne team and their parents. This brought to an end a very happy and thoroughly enjoyable and memorable week.

Our sincere thanks go to all the Melbourne people, as well as to the boys of the team, who helped to make the trip so enjoyable for us.

And lastly, but by no means least, to Mr. Abbott, who by his friendly attitude and good sportsmanship won the hearts and appreciation of the Melbourne people, as well as our own. To him, we offer our warmest thanks and appreciation for all he did in making it such a happy and memorable trip.

FIRST ELEVEN—FIRST TERM, 1948

DURING the term four matches were played. Three of these were won on the first innings, whilst the remaining game was lost cutright, after a very close and interesting struggle, to Shore.

Ron Wells was captain of the eleven and although at times his field placing was unorthodox, it was most effective, and materially assisted the bowlers in getting many of their wickets. Unfortunately, Wells was unable to reproduce his delightfully free batting form of last year, but with the ball his good length swingers became a formidable part of our attack.

Arthur Fagan was by far the outstanding bowler of the term. In three matches he secured 31 wickets at an average of just over 3 runs per wicket. A remarkable performance.

H. Godfrey, a new member of the team, quickly settled down to enjoy success with both bat and ball. His 8 wickets for 35 runs against Melbourne Grammar School was a particularly good effort, as also was his fighting innings of 36 against Shore.

Again, John Barratt's wicket-keeping was excellent. His anticipation in stumping and catching is particularly good.

Other batsmen who quickly settled down and enjoyed success were T. Hanlon, V. Walter and B. Bell. All of them have a wide variety of strokes and are anxious to play them as the occasion demands.

I. Campbell on several occasions showed glimpses of his true form, whilst R. Thomas was unable to reproduce his form of last season.

Of the other members Chegwyn and Spiden showed that they have ability and it is anticipated that now they have settled down, they will prove "thorns in the side" of many opposing batsmen.

It is pleasing to note that the fielding was at all times keen and up to standard. The fieldsmen were always on the move in anticipation, and moved to the ball quickly to save many runs. Very few opportunities were lost, with the happy result that no side scored 200 runs against us during the term.

We should like to take this opportunity of thanking the Women's Association for their stalwart work on our behalf during the term, particularly in the Melbourne Grammar School match, when, after the Thursday was washed out, they made it possible for us to play the game to a finish on the Monday.

Also to Mr. and Mrs. Phillips for their kindly interest and help to the team during the term.

—H.A.A.

1st XI REPORTS—1st TERM, 1948

S.G.S. v N.C. (February 14th and 21st at Stanmore).
THE match was not a hard one, but had some rather exciting moments. Our medium-pace bowlers showed to advantage, whereas the slows were costly owing to their inability to maintain a length.

Our batting was a little disappointing, though there were several good innings. A 42 not out by Bell in the second innings was the most impressive though Fagan 37 and Godfrey 26 in the first innings batted attractively.

Newington were rather weak, though they gave of their best. Tovey and Pike were outstanding with the bat.

Wells was our best bowler and was well supported by Godfrey. Our fielding on the ground was good, but our catching left much to be desired.

N.C.—1st Innings: 152 (Pike 66; Tovey 49).

S.G.S. Bowling: Wells 4-47, Godfrey 3-14, Fagan 3-16.

Grammar won outright.

S.G.S. v St. Ignatius (Feb. 28th and March 6th at Riverview). THIS was not a hard match and we were not extended to win outright. Our medium-pace bowlers again showed to advantage taking all the wickets except one. Wells was our best bowler taking 8-31.

Our fielding was good, with only good shots piercing the field. The improvement was most pronounced.

Our batting was again a little disappointing, and apart from Thomas, Walter, Hanlon and Wells they showed little enterprise. This may have been due to accurate bowling, but they must learn to hit the loose ball and hit it hard.

St. Ignatius—1st Innings: 89 (Best 24, Lenehan 16).

S.G.S. v S.H.S. (March 13th and 20th at Weigall).

THIS proved to be the easiest match so far. Fagan and Wells took 6-10 and 3-5 respectively.

High's bowling was stronger than batting, and their fielding was keen.

Wells and Godfrey were the best of our batsmen, scoring 52 and 25 respectively.

Our fielding was excellent with all chances being taken.

THE match was a good one and very even throughout. At no stage of the game was it evident which team would win. Our congratulations go to Shore for their win.

S.G.S. v S.C.E.G.S. (April 3rd and 10th at Weigall)

Hawker with the bat and Jones with the ball were outstanding for Shore. The Shore bowling was always on top and helped by keen fielding proved a little too strong for an always battling Grammar side.

Fagan was our outstanding bowler, taking 14 wickets for the match for only 76 runs.

Godfrey was our best batsman, making a fine 35 in the 2nd innings.

Our fielding was always good at no time was spirit lacking. The team is to be congratulated on its fine fighting spirit.

SYDNEY GRAMAR v MELBOURNE GRAMMAR

(March 27th and 29th)

THIS was a very enjoyable match and included many fine performances on both sides. The standard of cricket was high throughout and though beaten, the Melbourne team proved itself to be a good all-round team.

In the first innings Wells took control of the bowling and flayed it to the tune of 79 not out. He was ably supported by Campbell, Godfrey and Fagan, who all batted well.

In the second innings Hanlon took control and scored a very fine 74. Fagan and Walter batted solidly. Our batting standard was high during the match as can be seen by the scores.

The Melbourne boys could not handle Godfrey in the first innings and he finished with the excellent figures of 8-32. Only three were able to reach double figures.

However, in the second innings they handled our bowling better and good scores were registered by Hannan, Anderson and Thomas.

Wells was our best bowler, taking 6-47. Campbell was most useful, dismissing Hannan and Anderson when they were set for very high scores.

SECOND XI—THIRD TERM, 1947

THIS term saw a continuance of good cricket, the team finishing a close third in the competition.

Best performances were:—

Batting Averages: B. Bell, 47; H. Godfrey, 36; V. Walter, 31; M. Farley, 26; R. Thomas, 15.

Bowling aggregates (wickets for runs): H. Godfrey, 8-97; G. Edmansson, 6-63; M. Farley, 6-100; T. Hanlon, 5-63; P. Harvey, 5-68; R. Chegwyn, 3-46.

Wicket-keeping by Lloyd yielded 5 stumped and 5 caught in 4 innings.

Results of matches (all played at home):—

v Shore. Won by 54 on first innings.

Shore—128 and 171; S.G.S.—182 and 1-62.

v T.K.S. Lost by 51 on first innings.

S.G.S.—70; T.K.S.—121.

- v S.J.C. Won by 17 on first innings.
 S.J.C.—100 and 4-37; S.G.S.—117.
 v O.S.U. Won by 105 on first innings.
 S.G.S.—168; O.S.U.—63.

SECOND XI—FIRST TERM, 1948

The team: M. Lloyd (Capt.), G. Ireland (V-C.), W. Fisher, P. Harvey, I. Humphrey, G. Hearn, G. Green, D. Carney, C. Callaway, R. Haggett, K. Murphie.

Good cricket has been shown and the three competition matches have been won outright by apparent margins. The Shore match yielded an exciting finish. Grammar, fighting for time, left Shore a difficult task, which was tackled with utmost enterprise. Victory appeared within Shore's grasp until, in a badly failing light, their batsmen went down to a well presented attack, when 14 runs behind with only 5 minutes left for play. A memorable, fighting effort.

Cricketers of the past, however, were too strong for us in the Old Boys' match this time.

The following figures give fair indications of performances:—

Batting averages: Fisher, 32; Harvey, 29; Ireland, 23; Hunter, 18; Humphreys, 16; Green, 13; Callaway, 13.

Bowling: Hearn, 4 (27-5-14); Harvey, 5 (14-31-6); Ireland, 5 (12-43-8); Humphreys, 7 (35-87-12); Carney, 7 (21-59-8); Callaway, 18 (24-110-6).

Results of competition matches were:—

- v N.C. (at home). Won outright.
 S.G.S.—9-205; N.C.—35 and 10.
 v S.I.C. (at home). Won outright.
 S.G.S.—7-195; S.I.C.—59 and 73.
 v Shore (away). Won outright.
 S.G.S.—147 and 3-70; Shore—137 and 66.

2B XI—1948

THE team: J. Fisher (capt.), A. Edwards (v. capt.), R. Paton, I. Tait, J. Gostelow, J. Ashdown, D. Storey, J. McLeod, D. Gordon, H. Grimes, I. Rolle.

This eleven, consisting of footballers, swimmers and other seniors of personality, had its usual success against teams mainly of lower grading and were always duly pleased with their success. Spectators at teams' proceedings on No. 1 were frequently diverted by the shouts as of gladiatorial combat coming from No II, where nearly any bowl might bring a wicket and where the ball was really lifted into the air.

- In mere cold figures, results of matches were:
- v N.C. 4th XI. Won by an innings and 119 runs.
 - v S.I.C. 2B XI. Won by 4 wickets.
 - v S.C.E.G.S. 4B XI. Won by 4 runs

3rd XI

- v Newington—Won by an innings and one run.
Grammar—165. Newington—40 and 124. Captain: Mark.
- v Riverview—Lost by five runs.
Grammar—77 and 65. Riverview—103 and 44. Captain: Rogan.
- v C.B.C. Chatswood. Won by 17 runs.
Grammar—72. Chatswood 55. Captain: Rogan.
- v Cranbrook—Won by four runs.
Grammar—102. Cranbrook—98. Captain: Rogan.
- v Shore—Won by 13 runs.
Grammar—90 and 58. Shore—75 and 59.

THE HIGH, THE MIDDLE AND THE LOW.

CRICKET—1st TERM, 1948.

THE senior teams were coached by Messrs. Abbott, Edwards and Essex, who have reported fully in places proper to them.

Mr. Carr guided the destinies of the "letters"—the alphabetical elevens. This A team, skippered by D. Miller with Prefect Pogson as 2I.C., won 3 games out of 4, and that is reasonable. A game, by the way, extends over two Saturdays. We note some good bowling against N.C. when Herbert took 3 for 6 and Daniels 3 for 10. Other feats with the pill were Grimes' 2 for 2 against Scotts; Hall's 3 for 4 and Herbert's 3 for 12 against Shore. It reads almost too good to be true ;but we assure you it happened. All sorts of things happened in these teams.

Outstanding bat was Stuart with 58 against Scots, 59 against Kings and 53 against Shore. Other good tallies came from Blumer (33 and 32 against Kings); Rolle (35 v. Shore); and Wakefield (32 and 23 against Scots).

A solid team.

Phippard's "B" won 2 out of 3 matches, Benjamin scoring 83 and 33 against T.K.S. Again we note some atomic bowling; Cupil 3 for 8 and 3 for 0 against the Bellevue lads. Windsor, Stirton and Diamond also bowled.

Colts A were successful in two out of three engagements. We note Goddard's stout effort of 48 against N.C. That was a great day. We were there and finished the match at the tuck-shop with the team. You see, as you probably have heard (sounds like Bottom who went to see a noise), Newington is our old School. McKeown took 3 for 10, and Packham 3 for 12. Grammar won by 48 on the first innings. Packham also took 2 for 4 against Chatswood C.B.C. Bennett was the skipper. (That's queer: we always thought it was McKeown. There was some little matter of a kit-bag . . .)

Colts B under the leadership of one Barnes (there are scores of them!) won a match and lost a match. Best bats of a weak collection: Gould 20 against Chatswood "Brothers," and Barnes 27 against Shore.

Middle School A, Banbury skipper thereof, played three matches and lost all of them. Best bats: Waters, Downie, Russell. Best bowlers: "Dotty" Lamour, 7 for 20 v. Scots; and, astonishingly, Waters 2 for 8 v. Shore.

A Middle School B there was, but the skipper was too modest, or, more likely, too lacking in interest to report the games. A pity.

The 14'As continue to do not so well as former 14A's; but then it is a well-known fact that sons are never as good at games as their fathers were. In athletics and swimming, for example, one has only to look at the years in which the various records were established. (Yes?)

To cut it short (good idea?) the team won three games out of four; and that you will admit, dear reader, is not too bad. Successes were against Chatswood C.B.C., Newington and S.I.C. We note good batting efforts from Rosenburg, 38 not out v. Kings; Dezarnaulds (80 not out v. Chatswood); that mighty atom, Lin (47 against Shore); while Meillon, Keldie (3 for 8 v. N.C.), Hall (5 for 8 in the same game), Hearn and Fenwick sent the stumps flying.

The team is a credit to its enthusiastic coach, Mr. Girvan and was well led by Dezarnaulds and his vice, Lin.

Mr. Girvan's second string, the 14B's, skippered by McKenna, J., and seconded by Fenwick, J. (reads like a bench of Supreme Court Justices!), won two out of the three matches reported. We are sure that more were played. How about it, Captain?

Best bats: McGain, McKenna, Carleton and Aitken. Best bowlers: Aitken (4 wickets v. Shore), Wedderburn, Fenwick and Farrow (3 for 15 v. N.C.).

Just a team.

In Wilson's 14C XI only the N.C. match is mentioned. Were not the others worth reporting? Anyway they won by an innings and 24 runs, Hardie smiting 62 not out and Green skittling five, including the hat-trick. Bravo! What a pity we cannot hear more of this redoubtable side.

Lowe's 14D played games v. Shore and Mowbray and lost both; but we note with pleasure Cohen's 38 in the Northbridge game. We are informed that the best bowlers were Meldrum, Barkla and Wagner; but the wickets they took are not specified. The rest is silence.

14E's led by two nameless wraiths lose cheerfully to Shore, who get 135. (Never mind what the E's scored! You'd be surprised.)

The F's led by young Master Denyer lost to Shore without the slightest trouble (Bell 20, Nathan 2 for 6).

Gould's L. Sch. A is shown as having played four matches and lost three, the remaining game having been drawn. Actually, four were lost. The captain has omitted to report the most interesting game of all: that against Tudor House, whose XI annexed the John Owen Klippel Memorial Trophy which had been awarded for the first time. You can "read all about it," as the newsboys say, in the Sportsmaster's notes; that is, if you (or anyone else does) read them.

It was a delightful match and brings back to the writer many happy memories of those far-off years before the War when L. School and "Tudor" visited each other six times a year, home and away, for cricket and football.

It used to be said (incorrectly) that in gaining the coveted selection to go to Moss Vale, good manners counted more than good cricket. We must have had both, for we had our share of wins.

Of the little boys who played in the earlier years, many are now grown men; and some, like Johnny Klippel, gave their lives in World War II.

It was an interesting gathering. The match was attended by the Headmaster of Tudor House, Mr. W. J. Meyer; the Master of the Lower School, Mr. H. A. Ritchie; the rival coaches, Mr. Swan, of Tudor, and our own Mr. Girvan; and sundry parents, mostly from the Tudor House side; and best of all, by Johnny's mother and brother, Mr. David Klippel.

Our sincere thanks are extended to Mrs. Lloyd and the Grammar Women's Association, who entertained both teams at lunch (and what a fine lunch it was!) and again at afternoon tea to which everyone was invited: players, parents, masters; and at which, after a short (very short) speech from your Sportsmaster, and a much better one from Mr. Meyer, the trophy was presented to Tudor House in the person of the diminutive captain, by Mrs. Klippel. After cheers for Mrs. Klippel; for Mrs. Lloyd and the Women's Association and for both schools, the trophy started on its journey to Moss Vale, where it will remain until next November when we have been invited to try to get it back.

Of the other games L.S. A drew with C.B.C., Chatswood, but lost to Newington, Riverview and Shore. What this team needs is more practice, but there seems no chance of giving it to them.

Promising bats were revealed in Baxter, McWilliams, Murray (35 not out against Riverview), Jenkins, Stone and Gould. Bowlers of some worth were—Jones, Gould (3 for 5 v. Chatswood), Murray, Baxter and Stone. Some good all-rounders here. Practice and more practice is what is called for.

L.S. B was defeated by N.C. on the first innings by 23 runs. English, the captain, took four wickets. The team apparently then took a holiday for the remainder of the season. No reports.

Well, here are our old friends, the Midgets; not so successful as they usually are, but doubtless full of beans.

Single is the captain, but they do not believe in having a "vice." Why is that, we wonder?

We note happily a good win against N.C. by 97 runs on first innings: Edgar makes the astounding score of 64. Then follows phenomenal bowling—Wood takes 3 for 1; Densley 2 for 0. Words fail us.

Well, they "had another go" at N.C., and drew with them: no one was worth recording as having batted, and young Densley could get only 5 for 27. One of his "off" days.

In spite of more sensational bowling: Kains 3 for 9; good old Densley 3 for 6; and Dans 1 for 1; Grammar loses outright to "View" by 36 runs. Well! Oh, yes; and Densley got top score—12!

It was a narrow defeat by Kings: 84—71. Top score: Wood 28, and 6 for 23 by same.

Our best thanks to all our cricket masters in the three divisions, and to those senior boys who willingly lent a hand.

In conclusion you are urged to take the greatest care of your material, and not to leave cheerfully to your captain the task of collecting it and bringing it home. Remember, all gear is extremely expensive, and in the jargon of our bureaucratic friends, "in short supply."

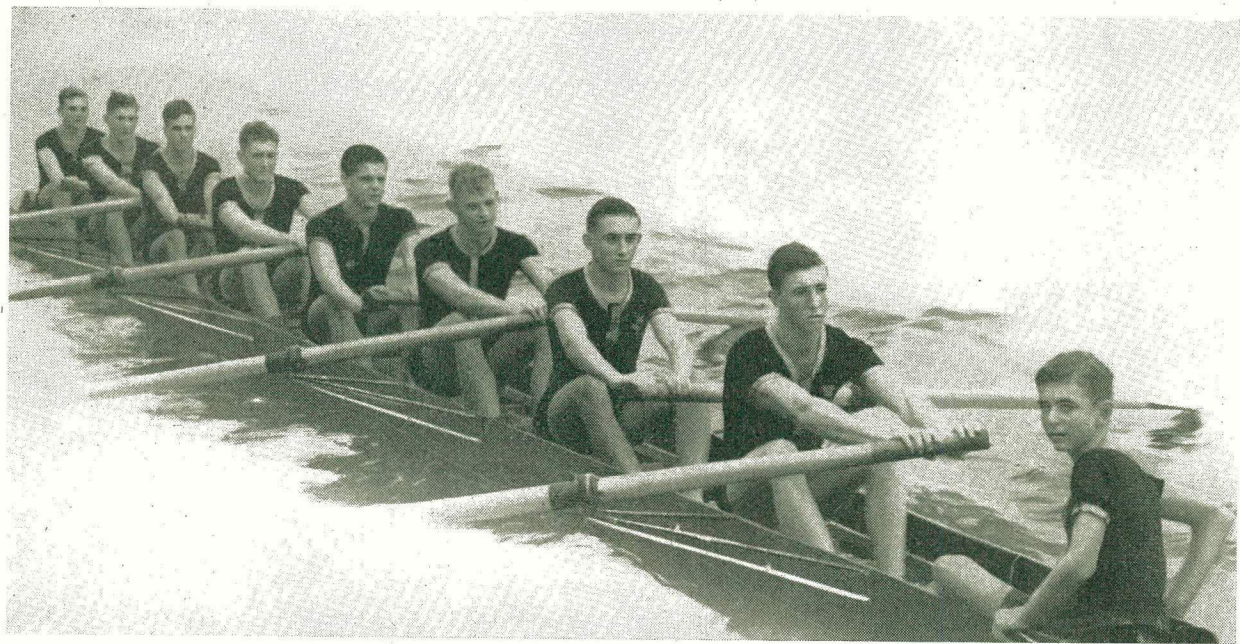

We are extremely grateful to Prefect, G. O. Fookes, late of 5A Lower (that forum of sportsmen) for compiling the record without which these notes could not have been written. (No comments from you Old Boys!)

ROWING NOTES

THIS season was one of the most enjoyable of recent years. We had two very successful and happy camps, made more successful by the efforts of the Captain and Vice Captain of Boats, J. V. Hart and R. Scrivener. We were fortunate, too, in obtaining much help and advice from Mr. A. B. Gould, who gave unsparingly of his own time to help in the coaching of the Eight. Mr. Webster spared no pains to coach the 1st and 2nd Fours, while the 3rd Four, 4th Four and Junior Eight were in the capable hands of the young Old Boys, Dave Younger, John Evans and Jim Ludowici. Don McCredie, as general factotum, helped in his own inspiring way.

We were happy to have with us as guests the Headmaster, Mr. Norman Cowper and members of the Rowing Sub-Committee. Another pleasing feature of this season were the visits we received from Old Boys. We hope that next season we have more of them.

The rowers are indebted to Mr. J. Mulhearn for his many kindnesses and frequent gifts during the season, particularly the provision of a launch for coaching; to Mr. V. Hart who donated, amongst other things, a set of riggers for a four; to Mr. Mullens for his much appreciated fruit; to Mr. F. Ludowici for a bag of sugar and to Dr. H. Scrivener who provided an excellent "dry swing" for us.

Much of the success of the season was due to the efforts of Mrs. E. R. Dent who made possible the Friday night camps.

We should like to congratulate Sydney High School on its outstanding performances at the Regatta.

The season concluded by a dinner arranged by Mr. A. Stewart and Mr. Moore at which the rowers were entertained. This "win-or-lose" dinner is another feature which has been revived and which we hope may become an annual affair.

Finally, we should like to thank the Women's Association for a pleasant evening at the Rowers' Dance.

TENNIS

WITH the return of last year's Captain and Vice-Captain, the team looked to have good prospects. However, we were defeated in the G.P.S. by Scots 13 sets to 8; and to them we extend our congratulations.

This year we have a tennis secretary, I. Campbell, who relieves the Captain of some of his duties.

All three teams entered into the finals—the U15's won decisively from Shore, whilst Scots defeated the U16's by one game, with sets and rubbers equal.

The teams were:—

Senior: Don Gordon, Capt., Ron Wells, Vice-Capt., D. Storey, D. Sams, C. Callaway, and I. Campbell.

U16: W. Fisher, Capt., J. Piercy, G. Ireland, D. Gray, H. Harris and R. Rogan.

U15: H. Godfrey, Capt., R. Lin, J. Wood, C. Dezarnaulds, I. Fenwick, and R. Kerr.

For the first time on record the team flew to Brisbane and played two matches—one against Brisbane Grammar, the other against Ipswich.

The team left on Sunday, May 9th, and were welcomed by members of the Brisbane team.

A clipping we publish from a Brisbane paper tells of the games we played.

Owing to the kindness of Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. North, Dr. Harris and Dr. Scrivener, the teams were enabled to practise on grass courts.

We acknowledge gratefully the generosity of Mr. Alan Stewart in providing a new tennis net; the skilled coaching of Mr. Bellhouse, and the co-operation of the Sergeant in his constant care of the court.

We are looking forward to interesting games in the Fairwater Cup.

COULDN'T HAVE BEEN CLOSER

A MAGIC eye camera could not have separated the Sydney Grammar School and the Brisbane Grammar tennis teams at the finish of their tournament yesterday.

After a full day's battle the two sides were exactly level with four rubbers, 10 sets and 102 games each. Following a debate whether they should toss a coin to decide the issue, the boys agreed to call it a draw.

The Sydney team made a flying visit to Brisbane for the game. Earlier in the week they defeated Ipswich Grammar five rubbers to three.

The side: D. Gordon (capt.), C. Callaway, D. Sams, D. Storey and I. Campbell, with school coach Alan Bellhouse, leave by air this morning for home.

THE ALL SCHOOLS' CARNIVAL

THE OLYMPIC POOL, SAT., MARCH 13TH, 1948

THIS year the Carnival was held in the afternoon instead of the night, and consequently there was a noticeable decrease in the number of Grammar School supporters. Also outstanding was the fact that there was a majority of junior boys among the barrackers. It is a pity that more senior boys were not present, not only to add their deep voices to the barracking (which incidentally was easily the loudest there), but also to enjoy the very good entertainment provided by the contestants.

Once again we were narrowly defeated in the point score for the Forbes Carlyle Trophy, our victors this time being Scots.

The best performance of the afternoon was that of Terry Johnson, who won two events, the 110 yards Junior Freestyle and the 110 yards under 15 Freestyle, thus providing the backbone of our point score which managed to head the list for a considerable portion of the time. Porra also swam an excellent race to gain first place in the 55 yards under 14 Breaststroke.

The Senior Relay Team, consisting of Johnson, McPhee, Edwards, Paton, Merriman, Davis came third in the final with Shore 1st, Scots 2nd. The members of the Junior Relay Team, Johnson, McPhee, Rolle, Smith, Emanuel, and Porra swam into 1st position, beating North Sydney High by about 3 yards in a very exciting finish.

Altogether there were 24 entries in the Carnival, the nine qualifying for the finals being listed below: Paton, Lloyd, Johnson, McPhee, Rolle, Smith, Emanuel, Porra, Symonds. It is unfortunate that more entries were not received because these would probably have provided the extra margin which has been lacking in the last two years to enable us to overcome the keen competition of Shore and Scots. It should be pointed out that our best swimmers this year are mainly juniors. Bearing this in mind we can expect to meet with success in the Carnival next year.

In conclusion, we should like to thank Mr. Crocker, both for his attendance at the Carnival, and for his very much appreciated assistance in organising the entries.

—A.M.L.

THE SWIMMING CARNIVAL

THIS important function was this year by the unanimous vote of the Games Committee transferred to the Olympic Pool at North Sydney; and the move proved a great success in every way. Entries were numerous and times fast.

No less than four records were broken by the following people: T. J. Johnson, who swam the 800 metres open in 1 min. 53.2 secs.; A. M. Lloyd, 100 metres breaststroke open, in 1 min. 34 secs.; and "Jock" McPhee who smashed the 100 metres freestyle under sixteen (a year above his age) and the 50 metres under 15 in the excellent times of 1 min. 15.2 secs. and 44 seconds respectively.

The success of the meeting was due in no small measure to our indefatigable captain of swimming, A. M. Lloyd, whose energy and enthusiasm were unflagging.

New features appeared in a water polo match between two Grammar sides; and a cork scramble which provided an opportunity to our less capable performers. Last year's success was repeated, but with a more polished exhibition by the S.G.S. diving troupe, organised by Ross Davis.

We are grateful to all who helped on the day, particularly to Messrs. Doug. Adamson, L. O. Gynge and His Honour Judge A. S. Lloyd, for officiating as time-takers.

Thanks go also to all masters, prefects, and boys who manfully did their bit.

We noted with pleasure the presence of a large contingent of the Grammar Women's Association.

On the other hand we were disappointed and discouraged by the paucity of entries from Old Sydneians in their own handicap. One could have been pardoned for believing that the move to the Pool would have produced greater entries than ever.

In the G.P.S. Invitation 100 Metres Championship we congratulate Theo van Dugteren, of Scots, on his win from Matthews, of Shore, and our own Terry Johnson in that order.

Johnson is our outstanding swimmer at the moment, with Jock McPhee by far the most promising junior. And we have our eye upon D. Emanuel, who arrived this year.

THE JUNIOR SPORTS MEETING—30th APRIL, 1948.
HAVING been postponed from the previous Wednesday on account of rain, the Sports took place upon the next Friday, although the weather was by no means favourable.

However, our officials carried matters through successfully.

Naturally, with heavy tracks, the times were slower than might have been expected, but they are reasonably good at that.

J. E. Carrick continues to show the greatest promise, and has now won the All Age Handicap for the third year in succession. Needless to say—a School record.

Others who shone in their respective age groups were W. K. Digby, P. Tedder, J. R. McHugh, R. M. English, P. Saw, A. C. Anderson, J. B. Bromhead and A. R. McGilvray.

A. C. Anderson's time for the "75" equalled that of Bromhead, a year older, for the same distance.

Our best thanks to the officials (Masters and boys), and Mr. Hardie, Master of Junior Athletics, who organised the whole meeting.

Auckland,

18th March, 1948.

F. G. Phillips, Esq.,
Headmaster,
Sydney Grammar School.

Dear Mr. Phillips,—

I have only to-day received the photograph and your letter of the 17th January, and I hope you did not think badly of me for not answering sooner. Thank you very much for the picture which will remind me every day of the School and you. I have not yet quite made up my mind where I shall display the School Pennant; it may be in the Saloon foyer. The magazine will also be read with interest when we get to sea. I have so far only glanced at it, and I must say I find it very interesting, and I am flattered at finding my letter is considered worthy of a place.

You may have seen accounts in your daily papers of the labour disputes in this port, and owing to this labour trouble we have been delayed some weeks. We arrived in Wellington January 8th, and before the war should have taken our departure from the final N.Z. port about a month later, but we shall not sail until tomorrow, and even that is doubtful. We have lain at this berth in Auckland for seven weeks and I should enjoy that but for the thought of the need of our cargo at home. However, there is nothing that I personally can do about it, so I have enjoyed a rest cure. I am sending a photograph taken by one of the cadets. It was snapped last voyage a week after we left Sydney. I thought perhaps you would find it interesting and unusual, quid pro quo for the excellent one you sent to me. My diary records on that day "moderate gale and rough head sea" and as you see we are shipping seas over the bow.

We were in Kingston, Jamaica, for two days on our passage out. Loaded over 18,000 boxes of oranges for Wellington, and I saw that they retailed in the shops there at 11d. a lb. I was specially interested in Port Royal at the entrance to the harbour, on account of the close connection that place has with Lord Nelson. The parade ground there is still called "Nelson's Quarterdeck," and a ruin on one of the hills was pointed out by the pilot as being a mansion that Nelson used when stationed there so as to be sometimes out of the fever ridden low port. Long ago I had to read Southey's Life of Nelson, and did not enjoy it much, if at all, but how I should enjoy it now. I believe that the popular writer, C. S. Forrester, has also written a life of Nelson, but I have never had the good fortune to come across it in a library or on a book-stall.

As we were coming across the Pacific this voyage, a flying fish nineteen inches long landed on deck. This is inches longer than any I have ever seen before, and so I advised someone to photograph it alongside a footrule. Without such evidence, no old sailor would believe it as all fish stories are suspect. A fact I have noticed about flying fish is that the farther from the Equator the bigger the fish. Apparently the spawning grounds are on or near the Equator, where Gulf weed abounds and I have seen somewhere that the weed is their protection until they are able to fly from their enemies. Gulfweed is distinctive from all other seaweed in that it has small round berries about the size of currants. I have seen masses of it in the Atlantic to the northward of the West Indies, but my memory does not serve me well enough to say whether or not I have seen it in other oceans.

It is very kind of you to suggest that I send names of some of the crew and their addresses for food parcels. I shall use some care in the choice so that your boys may be sure that the food is put to good use by people that appreciate it. At first sight it would seem that the people with big families would need it most, but providing they can afford it, large families fare better than the small ones. The people that feel the shortage most are those with only one or two ration books in the household. For such people, managing without the week-end joint is difficult, as three or four ration books in a household are necessary to command a piece big enough to be called a joint. For instance, I have often seen one person's meat ration for a week, and it only amounted to two lamb chops. That was when the ration was up to 1/- worth of meat and 2d. worth of canned meat per week. I heard over the radio two nights ago that the ration is now 10d. worth of meat and 2d. of canned meat per week. Almost ludicrous, don't you think? We men in ships are very fortunate, and get plenty of good food; also try to see that our people and friends have a little extra, but there are millions who have neither relations at sea or in the Dominions, and I feel that they are having a thin time. When I was home last I looked after myself for a while as my wife was away; I bought a fortnight's ration of bacon and ate it all for my Sunday morning's breakfast — it was two long rashers. That brought it home to me that the women manage really well during these difficult times.

I must congratulate Ritchie on such a fine score; it shows not only perfect co-ordination of eye and muscle but also great stamina.

With kind regards from the ship, yours sincerely,

S. J. PHILLIPS, Master.

PASCHAL MOON

One night when tired of earthly things,
I wander'd from my sweet abode;
Some happy thoughts in joyful rings,
Danced round my head as on I strode.

The night was mild, and the autumn-moon,
In silvery splendour shone above;
An orb to mankind such a boon—
A sign of the Creator's love.

Oh Cynthia, with thy face serene,
Why look'st thou 'pon man's evil ways?
Our selfish hearts are clearly seen
Unworthy of thy royal gaze.

Around thee in God's endless light,
Clear shine thy courtiers gay and free;
Although they are not half as bright
As thy round favour is to see.

Thy silver robe in moonbeams woven,
With beauty crowns Poseidon's place,
Infinite as the realm of Heaven,
Rejoicing in ne'er-ending space.

Beyond this phosphorescent line,
My mind envisioned many things;
A land of peace and hope divine,
Of tiny beings and elf-like kings.

I saw no wars along this path,
No hate, nor greed, nor social strife;
Nor sufferings in war's aftermath,
But joys and happiness of life.

—Un Essai.

THE HUMBLE PILLAR BOX

A pillar box strikes one, at first glance, as being perhaps the ugliest thing our civilisation has produced. But what a wealth of beauty really lies buried there! What a fascinating round of stories it would tell if its scarlet lips could only speak! Hour by hour, day by day, year by year, these stories converge on that red dove-cote, roost there for a time, and then scatter away again.

We ourselves send contributions to its anthology without so much as a second thought, or a second glance at its surpassing beauty. Why, life is in that pillarbox! When you passed yours on the corner this morning, did you think what was in there at that very moment? Why, a veritable record of Life, as strong, as joyous, as true as the Reality itself! Births, deaths, farewells, reconciliations, halting Nemeses waiting ruins, and coming joys. Somewhere, someone is waiting, hoping, fearing, for the sunbeams radiating from that red box; to him it will be the climax; to another it may be only the beginning of a bright new future, spreading out at his feet just as our Harbour from the Bridge.

Some will expect and obtain, some will obtain without expectation, while others may expect much and yet obtain nothing. Only the humble pillar box knows which it will be. One is reminded of the old story: which will it be, the "Lady or the Tiger"? The one brought love and life, the other hatred and death. Who knows what the red Hermes holds ready to deliver to you?

To me there is nothing more delightful than a letter. "It blesseth him that gives and him that takes." From the address within to the address without all is pure enjoyment, news is brought! Good news of our friends, bad news of our enemies, both of equal enjoyment to the present world. To you the writing may be just a pleasurable trifle, to another the reading may be a real mine of pure joy, the reader is far in advance of the writer.

Can you remember the last letter you received? Can you remember the feelings it aroused in you? Can you? If so, you are fortunate, others may have waited in vain for a letter for so long that they are unable to remember. By a letter I do not, of course, mean a cursory note commencing "Dear Sir: You will be pleased to note that our firm . . . etc., but a real heartburning letter from a friend containing his or her doings and sayings. Anything containing one for me is twice blessed. Many have been, are, and will be, in that red container you passed just then, labelled, in letters shouting to be heard over the tumult and the shouting, "Life." Think, some day you will be waiting for one of its round of tales, some day you will obtain joy, some day sorrow, some days, perhaps, even love, from its narrow confines.

Where, among the jostling mass of people who swirl around her day by day is there a Pygmalion to bring this my Galatea to life?

—Hermes VIA.

TROPICAL FISH-KEEPING

OF the numerous hobbies at which I have tried my hand, from bug-hunting to stamp collecting, there is none as interesting, to my mind, as tropical fish-keeping.

As these fish come from warm foreign lands, such as Mexico, Burma, India, Ceylon, China, Africa, etc., most of them must be kept in water at about 78°F. This is best secured by the use of an electrical, thermostatically-controlled, immersion heater. An ordinary lamp in a special reflector shows the fish off to their best advantage and a good light is imperative for a reason with which I shall deal.

These fish are exceedingly beautiful, their hues ranging through all the colours of the rainbow. Some have got queerly shaped fins and bodies, and most have some interesting feature to merit their inclusion in a collection.

But a few of the more interesting varieties are:—The swordtail, the male of the species has a sword-like extension of the tail the length of the body; this last is soft and is an adornment, not a weapon. The male fighting fish has long flowing fins, of deep purple, light blue, lavender, or red. The lung fishes, one species of which comes from Queensland, can breathe atmospheric air, and drown in an airtight container. The Archer fishes spit droplets of water at high speed capable of carrying ten feet when aimed at insects. As everyone knows, water "bends" light rays, so this feat sounds rather impossible, but the fish has learned to allow for this and usually "gets its man." The leaf fish looks like a dead leaf at first sight, but on closer examination it turns out to be a dark brown, flat fish, moving slowly through the water.

The best point about tropical fish is that most of them can be bred easily in the aquarium. What a fine sight are a few hundred baby fishes swimming with their mother and father!

Most fish lay eggs, but there are many species whose eggs hatch in the body of the mother, and are born alive. These are called live-bearers and are the most easily bred.

Another family of fish are the Cichlides. The parents first clean a stone or other flat surface and then lay their eggs upon it. The young, when hatched, are placed in small depressions in the sand at the bottom of the aquarium. For the next two days the young are moved from one depression to another in the parents' mouths! They are probably washed in the process. There may be no danger in the aquarium, but the parents continue to guard their youngsters as their ancestors did.

The male Bubble-Nest builder builds a nest of bubbles which he blows covered with a mucous secretion. He blows the eggs into the nest and cares for the young until they grow bigger.

Fish, like other animals, breathe in oxygen, which they absorb from the water. At the same time they breathe out carbon-dioxide. Plants must be provided. Under the influence of a strong light they give off oxygen and take in carbon dioxide. Oxygen is also absorbed from the air at the surface of the water. Plants take on many beautiful forms and add to the decorative effect. The fish must be fed at least once a day on dried powdered foods, such as dried shrimps, biscuits, Bemax, etc. This must be supplemented occasionally with live foods, such as scraped raw beef, chopped earth worms, small white worms and other forms of aquatic life, the more often the better. In fact fish are best fed completely on live goods.

A well-cared-for tank equipped with fish, plants, and light is an attractive addition to any room. Although boys don't care for the idea of being educated whilst they are enjoying themselves this is one good way of so doing. One learns much about the habits of creatures living in and around the water, and also of the many different types of submerged plants.

The Aquarium Society of N.S.W., which is composed of a hundred people interested in fish-keeping, meets once a month to enjoy discussions, lantern and cinematograph shows, and lectures.

I hope I have interested you in this fascinating hobby, and if I have, go along to Empire Buildings, Bligh Street, on the third Monday in the month at 8 p.m. for an enjoyable evening with the club.

A DAY'S FISHING

Bill Brown breezed into Regan's pub one night with a knowing glint in his eye. "Round on me, Joe," he said to the barman.

"Say, what's come over you, Bill? You must be in the money to-night." The speaker must have been new to Bill, because he didn't know Bill as we did. It often came on in sudden spells like this, usually because he was in the money, or had a new-fangled idea for getting some. The latter proved correct, for a few minutes later, some one asked, "Well, tell us what's on your mind, Bill."

"As a matter of fact," he said, "I've just bought a launch."

"A launch!" we yelled.

"Yes," he said, "I hear there's good money in the deep-sea fishing industry. The trouble is, though, I need a partner. Any of you blokes like to come with me?"

Of course, we knew Bill, but this new bloke, Harrigan by name, seemed to think better of it. "I'll go," he said. They made arrangements to go next week-end and sell the catch to the markets on the following Monday.

During the week, we talked about the chances of their coming back alive Monday next, and some wags even started to lay the odds; still . . .

Well, next Monday night we met at the pub. Harrigan was there, but no Bill Brown.

"Well, Blue (Blue Harrigan is his whole name)," someone said, "how'd the fishing go?"

"Look," retorted Blue, "don't talk to me about fishing again. I'll never go out with that Brown lunatic."

"Where's Bill?" someone queried.

"If you blokes will just keep quiet, I'll tell you the whole story. It was like this, you see. I turned up at Bill's place at about eight o'clock Saturday morning. We didn't get out of the house till about nine o'clock, because his missus was fussing around him all the time. She made him pile on sweaters, scarves, coats, overcoats and whatnot, saying he'd get pneumonia if he didn't. She even came down to the pier, too, to see that Bill didn't take them off anywhere.

"Well, after some trouble, the engine started and off we went. Of course, in the sheltered harbour, there wasn't much wind, and Bill began to get warm about the gills, and then he started taking off all the scarves and coats. He saw his wife waving from the pier in the distance, and so in contempt he shinned up the mast and tied one of the scarves to it. But unfortunately, just as he'd got it tied, he slipped, and by good fortune or not, he fell into the water.

"Now I wasn't too good at handling one of these craft, because Bill looked after the engine and steered. I managed to turn the boat around in a wide circle, and by that time I was fifty yards from him. He was yelling cries, instructions and unprintable threats about what he'd do to the mast if he ever got hold of an axe.

" 'Starboard, you fool,' he roared, 'you'll run me down.' Of course, I didn't know one from the other, but anyhow I gave the wheel a twist, and the boat whizzed about three yards from him and at the same time I threw a lifebelt attached to a rope at him. The lifebelt hit him on the head, and Bill almost went out to it. However, after some trouble I got him aboard, and he tumbled into the cock-pit, exhausted.

" 'Turn her for home,' he said, 'I'm going to put on some dry clothes.' Unfortunately there weren't any, only the coats that he'd taken off.

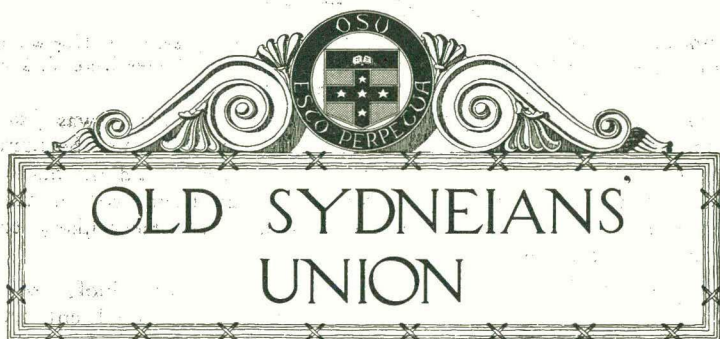

"Well, to cut a long story short, I somehow got the boat headed in the direction of the pier while Bill sat and shivered all the time, giving me directions. We were running side on to the pier and Bill said 'hard a port!'

"As fate would have it, I turned the wheel in the other direction and we crashed head on into the pier, and settled nicely in ten feet of water. Bill got a second wetting that day because although he tried to jump for it, same as I did, the heavy coat weighed on him, he missed his footing, and in he went.

"Bill's wife took him home, nagging all the time and saying she hoped we were satisfied. I had to mind the boat all night, Bill said, in case somebody pinched the thing. After that I'm not going out in a boat with that bloke again, no sir."

"Bill?" he said, to somebody's query, "oh, Bill. He's got pneumonia!"

RECOLLECTIONS

We are indebted to Sir Robert Garran for the following article dealing with earlier days at the School. The Editors hope to publish in future issues similar articles as a regular feature of the Old Sydneian pages.

I WAS at the School from 1877 (when the "Sydneian" was just two years old) till the end of 1884—starting at the bottom and ending at the top; so that my recollections could fill many volumes, and my difficulty in writing about them, within the space of a short article, is to select the memories most likely to interest your readers.

My most vivid recollection is that of "the Old Chief," Mr. Weigall, who was Headmaster from ten years before I entered till many years after I left, and who had already built up the School from a mere handful of boys to a roll of some 400, and established it as a great School of fine traditions both of scholarship and of character. He had been a very young Chief, indeed, when he took over, and I find it hard to realise that when I first knew him he was still a young man in his thirties. But he had a natural dignity—and also a full beard—that made him seem, at least to us youngsters, much older. Clear in remembrance is his figure, as he walked through the School or in the grounds, hands clasped at his back beneath his gown, trencher well back on his head, perhaps whistling or humming a not easily recognisable tune, and with a nod or a word to one boy or another as he passed. He would sometimes take a class in the Lower School, to see for himself how we were shaping, and whatever deficiencies he found in us, his reproofs were of a kind to make us abashed, rather than resentful. He had an extraordinary memory for names and faces, and was seldom at fault with either, even with Old Boys of many years' standing.

To the Sixth, he could unbend in easy familiarity, but without loss of dignity. A fine classical scholar, he was also an inspiring teacher of classics. He would tell us frankly that our standard of reading of classic authors was not up to that of an English Public School, but in a way that, while it may have induced modesty, was not discouraging. His rare praise was the more precious. I still recall the thrill when one day, after some devastating criticism of some Latin verses I had written, he added: "Now that couplet"—and he recited it to the form, while I began to suspect some false quantity or "howler" in syntax—"that couplet—I couldn't have bettered myself."

To go back in time—an incident in my first year gave me and the rest of the school an early lesson in politics and constitutional law. A school meeting had passed a resolution for a

"Sports Fee" of half a crown to be added to the school fees, and Montague, of the Fourth Grecians, called a meeting in the Big Hall to protest against the "Tax." The Chief, like a sport, took the Chair, and "Monty" (who later took to the law) harangued us. He brought in Wat Tyler and King Charles' head, but his chief argument was that the proposal had been "initiated in the Upper House" (i.e., the Sixth Form) which constitutionally had no right to initiate a Money Bill, instead of in Fourth Grecians, which was the really representative Chamber. We youngsters were impressed by his learning, but to the best of my memory he got no support. At any rate—and there is quite a modern ring about this—there was no reduction of taxation. You may think that "social service contributions" are a recent invention—but there they were in the Old School seventy years ago. And lest you may think that my memory of such an ancient address is too good for a ten-year-old, I will confess that I have refreshed it by looking up No. V of the "Sydneyan," dated June, 1877.

The Cadet Corps was a thing of beauty when it marched out to the Domain in full dress—scarlet coats with blue cuffs and white piping, blue, red-striped trousers, and Frenchified kepi caps, Captain Weigall in the lead, with sword tucked under his arm, and Lieut. H. C. L. Anderson (afterwards Public Librarian) alongside. I believe we were technically artillery, and two antique field-pieces in the playground lent colour to this. I vaguely remember one effort to drill with them, but they were obviously intended for "Horse Artillery, the use of," and were too ponderous to be manoeuvred by boy-power, and so served mainly as vaulting horses for the athletically inclined. But we took our rifle-shooting seriously, and foot-slogged every Tuesday afternoon to the butts—then at Moore Park, I think—weighed down by our heavy rifles, and the small boys by carbines nearly as heavy, to loose off ten cartridges. And did they kick? Muzzle-loaders they were, with cartridges of the type that are said to have caused the Indian Mutiny. We bit off the end of the waxed paper, poured the powder down the barrel, dropped in the bullet and drove it home with a ramrod, and fitted a percussion cap on the nipple. Occasionally a raw recruit would find trouble through putting in the bullet before the powder, and getting it jammed there—when the rifle would have to be returned to arsenal, to be operated on with a kind of corkscrew.

Sergeant Hagney, an old Indian soldier, tall and spare, and straight as a ramrod himself, was a fine shot. I have seen him take a carbine—a heavy load for a small boy—hold it to his shoulder with right hand only, and, standing steady as a rock, score three bullseyes in succession at 200 yards on the small target. The Chief used to tell us of his acts of gallantry in a plague-stricken camp in India. He was a real soldier, and at the School he started many real soldiers on their career—amongst others Harry Chauvel, afterwards to hold in Palestine the largest cavalry command that ever was—or ever will be—and to be a Lieutenant-General.

Of an earlier sergeant—Hodge—my only clear memory is of his playing, at a school concert, a solo on a strange, newly invented instrument called a "Saxaphone." I do not know whether he was responsible for introducing the saxaphone into Australia. If so, he is probably repenting in leisure in the corner of the Inferno where importers of the rabbit and the prickly pear are roasting.

At an Old Boys' Dinner some years ago a speaker said that Chauvel and I got our lance-corporal's stripe on the same day. The only thing wrong with the story is that I never got a stripe at all, but remained a full private till the end of my military career. The last time I squeezed into my uniform was just after I had left school, when I was called back to the colours to swell the ranks of the Corps as a Guard of Honour at the departure of the Soudan Contingent.

Masters—there were more of them than the Editors will give me space to tell about. Some came and went, leaving scarcely a trace, but there were a few who served long and faithfully, and shared with the Chief the credit of making the School what it was and is. There was "Neddy" Pratt, most patient maths teacher, who in old age became, with his sons, a pastoralist in Monaro; Farrar, one of the first House-masters, and a stout help to cricket—and mentor of the Moderns (technically called "Non-Grecians")—on whom we Grecians looked arrogantly down as an inferior race of beings; "Coppertop" Davis—father of Captain John King Davis of Antarctic fame; "Charlie" Francis, stern pounder of Latin and Greek Grammar into the heads of the Fourth; Hewlett, who caught them in the Fifth and polished them up with his scholarship to fit them for the Sixth—succeeded by Meyrick, who added to his armoury keen shafts of satire—and afterwards achieved fame by sticking pins into butterflies.

And schoolfellows! But this is where I really must take a pull on myself, or the Editors will hint at paper shortage. Dowell O'Reilly, charming poet and charming fellow—and father of novelist Eleanor Dark. Genial Jack Wood, fine sport, and later envied of all for carrying off to church the accomplished actress Essie Jenyns. Milner Stephen, learned Judge to be—but I like to remember him as Silenus in the "Cyclops"—I was Cyclops, with a "practical" eye in the middle of my forehead, which he put out with a red-hot poker—but I have forgiven him. Hugo Leibius, clever impersonator, at the University, of Cassandra, whom I as Agamemnon drove captive on to the stage in a real Greek chariot drawn by two real cream ponies—only to be "done in" shortly afterwards by Harry Russell as Clytemnestra and Leo Neill as Aegistheus, who took an unfair advantage of me when I was in the bath. In my mind's eye I can still see the bloody axe waved before the Chorus—but I have forgiven them, too. By the way, Leo Neill was Jack Wood's best man at his wedding—and they would never have been able to force their way through the throng into St. Andrew's Cathedral if they had not both been forwards in the 'Varsity football team. It is said that their hacking on that occasion was masterly, and effective.

Year after year, boys were passing through the mill at the School and going out into the world. Many became famous. Most carried into their careers the characters and traditions which they owed to the School, and did their duty, in various stations of life, well and manfully. A few fell by the wayside. The Old Chief was justifiably proud of the part so many of them played in public life. He used to tell of a visit to the Law Courts: "The Judge was an Old Boy; counsel on both sides were Old Boys; most of the jury were Old Boys; and"—with a twinkle in his eye—"the man in the dock was an Old Boy, too!" Let us hope that he was triumphantly acquitted, and left the Court without a stain on his character!

These schoolfellows, and many others whose faces float before me as I recall those days—where are they now? A few years ago I could have said, with the German poet—

"One frowns upon his office stool
And writes reports eternal;
Another groans and teaches school,
One's critic to a journal;
One gravely chides the sinful soul,
One makes its ruin'd mansion whole.
O jerum jerum jerum,
O quae mutati rerum!"

Now, the greater number of them have passed on to the other life. "All passes"—but the Old School goes on.

—R. R. Garran.

NEWS AND NOTES OF OLD SYDNEIANS

OUR congratulations to Alan S. Lloyd who has been appointed a Judge of the District Court.

D. A. Garnsey became Headmaster of Canberra Grammar School at the beginning of the year.

H. G. Ferrier has been elected President of the Metal Trades Employers' Association.

Geoff. Whiddon has been elected a member of the Council of the Royal Agricultural Society. Old Sydneians are well represented on this body.

George Wearne writes from the District Office, Higaturu, Papua, where he is a Patrol Officer. Off duty he plays cricket with the natives. He says "it is all good fun and makes life tolerable in the face of acute shortages of supplies and the almost prohibitive cost of living."

We have received a letter from W. Lamrock, one of the older Old Sydneians. He writes, "I am eighty-six and nearly blind, but going strong. I still love the memory of the old Chief whom I served under in the cadets, where I rose to the rank of corporal."

In a recently published book of some historical importance and of great interest to Scotchmen—"The Chiefs of Clan Macpherson"—appears a reference to the grant of arms on 10th November, 1944, by Lord Lyon, King-of-Arms, to Major Ian Fyfe Macpherson, M.C., of Double Bay, and to his descendants, this being the only family of the Clan Macpherson in Australia entitled to bear arms. The citation records the fact that Major Macpherson attended the Sydney Grammar School.

The attention of Old Sydneians is drawn to the record appearing in other pages of this issue to recent changes in the Board of Trustees of the School. We congratulate Dr. E. A. Brearley, Brigadier Walter MacCallum and Mr. R. E. Ludowici on their appointments.

Nearly 800 delegates representing 16 countries began a discussion on the problems of European unity in its political, economic and cultural aspects when the unofficial body styled the "Congress of Europe" met at The Hague on September 7th, under the Chairmanship of Mr. Winston Churchill. The British delegation included 84 persons, many of them eminent figures, such as Professor Gilbert Murray, Lord Layton, Mr. Anthony Eden, and Mr. L. S. Amery. An Old Sydneian, R. W. G. Mackay, has taken a very prominent part in this movement for European unity, and it was a tribute to his leadership that he was chosen as the Chairman of the numerous and distinguished British delegation. "Kim" Mackay was at School about 1914-1919. He played with the 2nd XI in 1919, gained Honours in English and Modern History at the Leaving Certificate Examination, and was Honorary Secretary of the Debating Society, which has seldom been in a more flourishing state than it was under his intensely energetic direction. He went to England in 1934 and established himself in practice as a solicitor while taking an active part in the Labour movement. He was elected to the House of Commons at the general election of 1945. He wrote "Federal Union" a book which advocated a federal union for Europe, about 8 years ago, and since then has consistently advocated the ideas set out in that book.

Two of last year's 1st XI in Bruce Ritchie and Jim Burke lost no time in entering 1st grade cricket with Cumberland and Manly and both justified their selection.

The School was generally well represented in 1st grade cricket and amongst those who performed well were:—Bruce Sheidow with Gordon (the premiers), Ray Stublely with Northern Districts, J. P. Walker with Marrickville, Alan Delarue, John Newman, Malcolm Coppleson and Neville Downes with University, Jack Chegwyn with Randwick and A. Coates with Mosman—on the whole a better effort than for some years.

In Athletics the first Old Sydneian to become a State Champion for some time was Mervyn Finlay who, although finishing second to J. W. Ramsay, of Victoria, in the 880 yards, was awarded the title as an outsider cannot hold the title. He also ran well in the 440 yards and in the South Australian Championships. Others prominent in the State Championships were Alan Prowse (second in the High Jump), John Clapin and Dick Adamson.

Dr. Doug Keller, after a successful tour with the Wallabies, returned to England and is continuing his post-graduate studies there. The two other Old Sydneians in the team, Colin Windon and Alan Walker, are showing the benefit of their overseas experience with their respective clubs.

While in Melbourne in February and March, Norman Cowper, the President of the Old Sydneians' Union, was entertained at luncheon by the President of the Melbourne branch, Eric Booth, his predecessor, Alan Michaelis, and the Secretary of the Branch, Adrian Clifton-Jones. They are very anxious to extend the activities of the Branch, and would like any Old Sydneians who are going to Melbourne at any time, either on a visit or to take up residence, to get in touch with them. Eric Booth is with the Colonial Sugar Refining Co. Ltd., and is to be found at No. 16 Bond Street, Melbourne; Alan Michaelis is the Managing Director of Michaelis, Hallenstein & Co., of 441 Lonsdale Street, and Adrian Clifton-Jones is a solicitor and member of the firm of Eggleston, Lee and Clifton-Jones, of 143 Queen Street. Other Sydneians encountered by Norman Cowper were Alan ("Mum") Harnett, whose address is c/- Scott's Hotel, and Roy Cocks, the Melbourne manager of Dalgety & Co. Ltd.

Eric Booth writes from Melbourne:—

You have probably heard, from the Chief, of the dinner tendered him in the Gowrie Room at Menzies on 19th January.

Eighteen Old Sydneians were present and Mr. Gilray—head of Scotch—a guest. Mr. Sutcliffe—Melbourne Grammar—was also invited, but in the choice of fishing or H.M. Conference the latter lost.

Our H.M. made an excellent address in reply to a welcome from those present and twenty-two unavoidably absent.

The upshot was that the Victorian Branch O.S.U. was reformed with Adrian Clifton-Jones as Hon. Secretary and myself as Branch President.

One of my earliest duties in the part, and a very pleasant one, too, was to welcome Norman Cowper to Melbourne. Alan Michaelis, Clifton-Jones and I lunched him and schemed for a dinner next time he comes South. He has promised due notice.

I received a list of O.S.'s reputed to be more or less Victorian in residence. The war has made it difficult to keep track, but it is hoped that a note in the "Sydneian" may induce those not already in touch with us to drop a line either to me or Adrian Clifton-Jones at 143 Queen Street, Melbourne C.1.

S. F. McCullagh on vacation from Sydney 'Varsity dropped in for a yarn and advised others were here, but none came forward at the time.

I see a bit of W. J. R. Scott who was P.O.W. for some time—he's recently flown to U.K. and back, and gone into the insurance game again. His brother Lee was here, too.

From R. S. Barr Brown, London:—

In reply to your air mail letter I very much regret that I have no interesting information to send you regarding the activities of Old Sydneians in this country. Only recently Levick and I discussed the possibility of a reunion Dinner this year, but in view of the many difficulties decided against it.

You will realise that Old Sydneians are scattered about England and that only a few are permanently resident in London so that we have to rely to a great extent on visiting members. At the present time most of the permanent members are still on the continent or are so placed that they cannot attend a function in London. Of course, one great disadvantage is that we have no permanent or definite meeting place. It is left to Levick or to me to seek out Old Sydneians and addresses are not always easy to find. Had we a sort of Central Office members would probably be more inclined to get in touch with us.

Our difficulty is getting in touch with members, not just one or two a year as hitherto, but all permanent and visiting Old Sydneians. We are prepared to do all we can to arrange meetings providing we get co-operation, particularly as regards address and the length of stay of visiting members. Mr. Close, when Secretary of the Union, used to send us particulars of all intending visitors to England and we found this most helpful.

Harold Nettheim, Old Sydneian representative in Brisbane, writes:—

The N.S.W. G.P.S. Association now has a membership of 95, but I am sorry to report that this number includes only 10 from Grammar against 10 from St. Ignatius, 22 from Kings and 29 from Shore. There is not the same enthusiasm amongst Grammarians as is found in old boys of other Great Public Schools. The 10 Old Sydneians are:—Dr. Bruce Barrack, A. M. Epps, P. B. Johnson, F. E. Lascelles, D. Murchison, S. A. Margason, C. N. Nettheim, H. S. Nettheim, R. G. Sherwin and R. Randall.

Regarding activities of the Association—we have regular tables for lunch at 1 p.m. each Monday at the Stock Exchange Club, Creek Street, and average attendance would be about 15.

Just before Xmas the Association held a most enjoyable cocktail party at Lennons Hotel. Members and friends attending totalled 70 including 3 who made a special trip from Toowoomba.

In February there was a golf match at Royal Queensland Golf Club, the winners of the trophy being J. Down and E. Milne, both of Shore.

Perhaps the most popular functions are the cricket matches against the Victorian G.P.S. Old Boys. At least 2 matches are played each year, the last having taken place on Sunday, 14th March, at Graceville Oval. The Victorians avenged their defeat in the previous match and scored an easy victory. Doug Murchison (Grammar) captained the N.S.W. team and the best performer was T. F. Wardrobe (Shore) who gave a most entertaining exhibition of big hitting. Favoured with glorious weather, about 80 players, wives, children and friends enjoyed afternoon tea served in the open air.

Our dinner on boat race night proved to be perhaps the most successful function in the history of the Association. It was enjoyed by forty diners including a good sprinkling of the younger generation whom we particularly desire to attract to our functions.

The toast of each school was honoured in turn — that of Grammar having been entrusted to myself. I coupled with the toast of the school that of the present Chief, Mr. Phillips, who was known to every Old Sydneian present right back to A. M. Epps who was at Grammar 1906-10.

I give hereunder the names of the Office Bearers elected at the annual meeting held immediately prior to the dinner. My name is missing. After ten years on the Committee from the inception of the Association (having been its first President) I voluntarily retired to make way for a younger man.

President, C. O'Donnell, Shore. Immediate Past President, L. Dodwell, T.A.S. Vice-Presidents, J. Down, Shore, D. Murchison, S.G.S. Hon. Sec., M. Dodwell, T.A.S. Committee, A. Harland, Shore, T. Wardrobe, Shore, A. McPhie, Kings, A. Bretnall, Newington, F. Kelly, Riverview, H. Edwards, Newington, M. Harrold, T.A.S.

J. G. Pritchard, Old Sydneian representative in Perth, recently visited Sydney. He is managing director of J. G. Pritchard Ltd., and is President of the Australian Institute of Refrigeration W.A. (Division). He takes a useful part in public affairs in his State and is very well known amongst sailing enthusiasts in Perth as commodore of the First Dinghy Club. We are indebted to him for the following news of Old Sydneians in West Australia:—

F. C. McWilliam for some years has been General Manager of the W.A. Branch of Wm. Adams & Co. Limited, Machinery Merchants, and is an active member of the Perth Club, having just been re-elected on the Management Committee. Most of his leisure time is spent on his forty-foot motor boat on the Swan River.

R. A. Cameron who attended the S.G.S. from 1898-1900 has for many years been Western Australia's Manager of Dalgety & Co. Ltd. He is also the W.A. Chairman of the National Mutual Life Association and during the war years was Chairman of the State Wool Committee. He is an ardent golfer, being a member of both South Perth and Karrinup Clubs. Enjoying excellent health he sends his kind regards to all old school mates.

F. R. Herron who lives in one of the beauty spots of Perth is Managing Director of the Fremantle Cold Stores Co. Ltd., and also Chairman of Directors of the Albany Woollen Mills. No doubt many old boys will remember him in connection with Interstate Rowing.

W. H. Suttor who has now retired from business worries, lives in the lap of luxury at the W.A. Club and is still as hale and hearty as ever. No doubt this congenial gentleman will be remembered by many readers of the "Sydneyan."

W. McLean whose residence is at one of the main surfing beaches, has just left Perth for a world tour via Panama Canal.

Alan McGilvray, who very successfully broadcasts ball to ball descriptions of the Test Matches during the recent tours by English and Indian cricket teams for the A.B.C., is now in England to broadcast for the B.B.C. during the current series of Test Matches.

K. S. Williams, who was a prefect in 1915, rowed in the Eight 1914-1915, and played in the Fifteen 1913-1915, doesn't allow his dignity as an alderman of the City of Sydney to prevent him answering to his school nickname "Weary." It is a misnomer, for he has never wearied in his interest in the School and those who were with him. His latest piece of practical generosity is a gift of £50 to the Trustees towards the improvement of "O" Classroom, one of the "dungeons." This is now as bright as day, thanks to him.

Last year V. G. B. Wilkinson, a great friend at school, and a brilliant breakaway, a fine oarsman, and a prefect in 1914-15, returned to Sydney for a brief visit. "Perhaps one of the best leaders both on and off the field S.G.S. has produced." He saw service in the latter part of the 1914-18 war, and served with the R.A.F. in the last. The intervening time he spent in England and on the continent, and eventually became the proprietor of a domestic heating business in Paris.

He married about two years ago a charming Belgian girl, then about 19. He always was dashing!! We listened with respectful admiration to the fluent French with which Geoff conversed with his bride at the match last year, in which, fortunately Grammar played really good football to beat St. Joseph's. She was impressed. Far too impressed. In fact she wondered whether so dangerous a game was one for her son to play!

At fifty years Geoff is very much as he was at twenty—tall, fair, slim, with wavy hair and a delightful smile. "Weary" complains ruefully that Geoff has become a bit "arty", but one would hardly expect an alderman to keep up with that sort of thing.

It is a coincidence that Geoff's best friend, Dr. Herbert Maitland, who likewise left Australia about 1917, and had been away ever since, paid a visit to Sydney at the same time. Herb spent many years as a doctor in Persia. His schoolfellows might be pardoned the observation that there would have been no need for him to grow like a Persian. He did a great job in London during the last War, and is now married, and proposes, after giving due consideration to income tax rates to settle in South Africa.

While Geoff Wilkinson was in Sydney, "Weary" had the very happy thought of getting his old school friends together and showed his generous hospitality by putting on a cocktail party. Besides the guest of honour and the host, the following attended: N. C. ("Buller") Baldwin, Raymond ("Mick") Bardsley, Keith Douglass, Jim Hackett, Cotter Harvey, Dallas Hodgins, Alan Lamrock, Bill Millner, Ned Raine, Lex Schofield, Douglas Scott, Gordon Stewart, "John" Wallace, "Chicka" Hearne, "Cam" Dezarnaulds, Sid Marshall, Harry Ludowici, Norman Cowper, Mervyn Findlay, and Charlie Fox, also the Chief and Messrs. Hyam Marks, "Bung" Golding, H. A. Ritchie, Alf Soden, C. D. Taylor, and Ian Edwards. It was a delightful party and all of us who were there look back on it with pleasant memories and sincere gratitude to "Weary" for bringing us together again.

THE WAR MEMORIAL

SINCE the last issue of the Sydneian, the Committee responsible for the War Memorial fund has continued its activities. In its work it has had the co-operation of the Old Sydneians Union Committee, the Board of Trustees, the Headmaster, the Memorial Ball Committee, including the Younger Set, The Women's Association and individual Old Sydneians who have been anxious to help according to special circumstances and ability. The committee also has received much encouragement from the good wishes, and, in some instances helpful suggestions of subscribers to the fund.

To all these willing supporters of the school the Committee gives its thanks. The somewhat disappointing fact is that out of a potential force of contributors of four thousand or more only six hundred and fifty have yet promised or paid. Between them they have been responsible for approximately £12,000—which is an effort not to be despised. Four times the number of subscribers to the fund, contributing at the same rate would put the committee within sight of its objective, £50,000.

It is not necessary to supply reasons why Old Sydneians should support the fund. Some have contributed in memory of relatives or friends who died on service, others have found in the Memorial appeal an opportunity to repay a debt to the school. Others again have interpreted the appeal in terms of duty, or have responded to it because of generations of association with the School. Whatever the expressed motive for the gift, there is a common desire to see erected at the School a fitting monument to those who died on service.

At the risk of repetition we stress the fact that the majority of Old Sydneians have not yet accepted the privilege of contributing to the fund. In many cases the appeal has not reached them. Some have lost touch with the School, some are in distant places, or beyond the seas, and their addresses are not known to the Committee. The help of all those who are interested in the appeal is sought towards making the list of contributors as comprehensive as possible. The names of those who have already subscribed have been published, and by studying the lists Old Sydneians may call to mind some of their acquaintances who have not subscribed and either give to them a personal reminder or pass on their names and addresses to the Committee.

Contributions should be sent to

The Hon. Secretary,

Sydney Grammar School Memorial Fund,
Room 401

16 Barrack Street, Sydney.

Cheques should be made payable to Perpetual Trustee Company (Limited), Treasurer of the Fund. Gifts to the fund will be subject to the concessional rebates provided by the Income Tax Assessment Act in the assessments of donors.

DIED ON SERVICE

THE following names of Old Sydneians who died on Service have been received since the publication of the War Memorial issue:—

Bayley, L. A.

Dwyer, Norman Falkner

Wacker, Wilbur

Parker, Harold Mason

Wood, G. F.

We regret that the information was not received in time to appear in the principal list. Every effort has been made to include in the Honour Roll the names of all Old Sydneians who served with the forces. To ensure that the list will be complete, and particularly that there shall be no omissions from the list of those who died, we must rely on the parents, relatives or friends of servicemen. The School will be grateful for all assistance in this respect. If Old Sydneians will peruse the list appearing in the War Memorial issue and the lists of members of the forces in earlier issues and notify the Headmaster or the Secretary, Old Sydneians' Union, of any omissions they will be performing a valuable service.

THE LIBRARY

It is intended that the main feature of the war memorial building should be a library. But for a library a collection of books is as necessary as a building in which to house them.

The School has never really had anything approaching an adequate library with a place in the general activities of the School. The Cureton library provided a good nucleus capable of development. But consistent policy, adequate funds, and experienced administration have been rather lacking. Grammar has not been alone in its neglect. With some outstanding exceptions, mainly in Victoria, both among High Schools and the Great Public Schools, Australian school libraries in general are very poor affairs when judged by accepted and prevailing standards in Britain and America.

The recent decision of the Trustees to provide considerable funds for the library, the appointment of Mr. Cowdery, one of the masters, as librarian, and the introduction of a proper system of cataloguing, classification and administration is therefore most welcome. It takes time, however, to organise a library properly; and for the present only the Upper School can be catered for. The space available is very cramped and is at best an expedient. But much has already been accomplished and the library will, it is hoped, soon have a vigorous part in the life of the School. The aim is not only to have books which are of assistance to boys in their studies, but also to provide a wide range of well selected general reading for Upper School boys, and also books dealing with sports and hobbies, and music and arts.

The library is supervised by a committee consisting of the Headmaster, two representatives of the trustees—N. L. Cowper and W. J. V. Windeyer, a representative of the O.S.U., W. E. R. Francis, and the librarian.

Old Sydneians will be interested in this development.

Gifts of books would be much appreciated. But the committee is charged with the task of determining their suitability, and it does not intend to allow the shelves to become the depository of junk. It is suggested that any Old Sydneian who wishes to make a contribution to the library should first submit the titles of the books to a member of the committee.

SYDNEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL WAR MEMORIAL FUND BALL, 1948

UNDER the distinguished patronage of the Official Visitor to the School, His Excellency the Governor of New South Wales, Lieut.-General John Northcott, this year's function was held at the Trocadero on Tuesday, 23rd March.

Nearly 1200 Old Sydneians and friends of the School were present, and a cheque for £581, representing the nett proceeds from the function has been forwarded to the War Memorial Fund. The combined proceeds of both this and last year's Old Sydneians' Ball, have now added over £1000 to the fund.

The Ball sub-committee would take this opportunity of thanking those country, interstate and city Old Sydneians who generously contributed to the ball financially, and to the many Union members and supporters of the School who gave continuous and conscientious service to a degree that made possible a very successful evening.

OLD SYDNEIANS' SCHOLARSHIP

Old Sydneians congratulate J. G. McLeod, who has been awarded the Old Sydneians Scholarship for 1948.

OLD SYDNEIANS CONTRIBUTIONS

YOUR representatives on the Sydneian Staff invite all Old Sydneians to assist in making these pages a full and readable record of events of interest to Old Boys. To-day, former pupils of Sydney Grammar School are to be found throughout the public, professional, commercial and industrial life of the community, and in places beyond the seas. The Sydneian is always glad to publish news of the activities and successes of Old Boys and urges its readers to send suitable paragraphs to "The Sydneian"—Room 401, 16 Barrack Street, Sydney. Nor need a willing contributor stop short at a paragraph. The Sydneian will be glad to publish interesting accounts of travel, adventure, or of any unusual activity of Old Sydneians. Especially does it seek anecdote and reminiscence relating to the School. There is good reason to believe that such material has amongst Old Sydneians a substantial and enthusiastic reading public.

OBITUARY

JOHN BOWIE WILSON

John Bowie Wilson, M.B.E., V.D., K.C., who died recently, entered the School in the year 1887. His two sons also are Old Sydneians. He had an unusual career. After graduating B.E. in mining engineering at Sydney University, he was for ten years at Mount Morgan as engineer and mine manager. Later while practising as a consulting engineer in Sydney he studied law and was admitted to the Bar. Always interested in military affairs, he served on the staff in Australia during the 1914-1918 War, and from 1935 to the end of the recent War he held the very responsible office of Judge Advocate-General of the Military Forces. He had a great knowledge of military law, a high standard of correct conduct and behaviour, especially for officers, and a full realisation that upon the fair, firm and uniform administration of the law the morale and discipline of the army in a large measure depended. Everyone who knew his work recognised his complete integrity, his mercy in deserving cases, and the fearless independence with which, often in difficult circumstances, he refused to bend the law to expediency or influence from any quarter.

JOHN EDWARD GOSLING

John Edward Gosling, a well known Sydney solicitor, who had been in practice since 1895, died suddenly on the 28th March, at the age of 75.

Mr. Gosling attended Grammar from 1885 to 1889. He was President of the Incorporated Law Institute of N.S.W. from 1932 to 1935, was a member of the Statutory Committee since its inception and was President of the Committee for four years.

He had the O.B.E. conferred on him in 1937, and was awarded the King's Coronation Medal in the same year.

Mr. Gosling was keenly interested in yachting and was a member of the Committee of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron and Pioneers Club for many years; he had also held office with the N.S.W. Lawn Tennis Association.

JOHN MANNING

John Manning, brother of Sir Henry Manning, K.C., M.L.C., died on 26th March last.

Mr. Manning was junior partner in the firm of Andrews and Manning, solicitors.

He was educated at Sydney Grammar School and the University of Sydney, and captained an Australian Rugby Union Football team against the "All Blacks."

Mr. Manning served overseas in World War I and was wounded.

AUBREY PHILLIP GUNNING

The death occurred on the fourth of February, 1948, of Dr. Aubrey Phillip Gunning, of Chatswood, at the age of 52 years.

Born at Narromine, N.S.W., Dr. Gunning was educated at Sydney Grammar School and Sydney University, where he graduated in Medicine.

While at School he gained junior and senior prizes for French, Mathematics and General Proficiency, and at the same time interested himself in the various sporting activities.

He served as a Medical Officer in both World Wars, and recently donated to the School the very valuable Gunning Shield for cricket.

His widow, son and daughter survive him.

ALLAN PAIN

The Rev. Allan F. Pain, B.A., died at Royal North Shore Hospital on 11th December last. He was at Sydney Grammar School from 1885 to 1890, two brothers also attending the School at that time. After obtaining his University degree in 1894 he joined the Fairymead Sugar Company on the engineering staff and was later chief engineer with Lever Bros. at Sydney. In 1902 he went to England and entered Holy Orders. He returned to Australia in 1906 as Assistant Chaplain to the Mission to Seamen in the Port of Sydney, of which institution he later became Chaplain. From 1907 to 1911 and from 1913 to 1919 he was Acting Chaplain R.N. establishment, Garden Island, and Chaplain R.A.N.R. Subsequently he entered parish work and continued in this until his retirement in 1940. A grandson is at present attending the School.
